

State Senator Seeks Backing for Federal Tax Rebate to States

Studies Quoted Show Steady Rise in Annual U. S. Income

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON—A ranking leader of the Wisconsin legislature said today he will launch a national campaign for backing among other state legislatures for congressional action to carve a slice of the federal tax melon for the benefit of financially distressed state governments.

Sen. Robert P. Knowles said, "the states stand at the crossroads. They will surrender more of their functions to the national government, or they will get a share of the huge federal tax collections for their own vastly growing expenditure obligations. There is no other course for them."

Knowles is the Republican majority leader of the state senate and the new president of the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders which will meet later this week at Biloxi, Miss.

He said he is hopeful of persuading that group to adopt the proposal as one of its major objectives, and to crystallize support in the current sessions of the Congress for a tax sharing plan which has had scattered endorsements on a bipartisan basis in several recent years.

Knowles pointed to graphs in his office showing the projected enrollments in state-supported institutions of higher learning—to a peak of 100,000 in Wisconsin during the next decade—as an example of the deepening financial dilemma which confronts all the states.

"We will probably have to turn students away from the doors of our colleges and universities, unless we can work out something like the tax sharing plan proposed last year by Dr. Walter Heller," he said. He referred to the Minnesota economist who was until recently the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

Knowles said men of both parties in Wisconsin and elsewhere have supported the tax sharing plan, including Sens. Proxmire and Nelson, Wisconsin Democrats, and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, a leading Wisconsin Republican.

He quoted studies showing that federal tax income is likely to grow at a rate of at least $6 billions a year.

If one half of that amount was returned to the states on a per capita basis as asked in a current proposal, he noted, it would mean the equivalent of about $80 million a year to the Wisconsin state treasury, or probably enough to bridge the prospective gap between expenditures and income from present state taxes for the new biennial state budget.

Sen. Knowles said he is acting on his own behalf, without necessarily reflecting the views of the Wisconsin legislature or the executive office which is now held by Gov. Warren P. Knowles, his brother.

Chinese Welcome Year of Serpent; ... Happy 4663!

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chinese New Year, No. 4663, was welcomed in during celebrations in New York's Chinatown starting at midnight.

It is the Year of the Snake, but none of the serpents was evident among some 2,000 persons who jumped as firecrackers exploded at their heels. There were a half-dozen paper mache dragons, however.

A light snowfall did not disturb the happy gathering for the start of the week-long celebrations. During the week there will be dances, acrobatics and on Saturday a parade featuring Miss Chinatown and a Chinese beauty float.

To the Chinese, the Snake represents subtlety and longevity. And, as the Chinese would say, "Hung Hay Fat Choy" or Happy New Year.

Foreign Policy Advisor Being Sent to Saigon

May Check to See If Ambassador's Ability Impaired

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is dispatching McGeorge Bundy to Saigon to confer with Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor on South Viet Nam's political turmoil and anti-Communist war.

Bundy, top White House foreign policy adviser, leaves late today and will return sometime next weekend.

A White House announcement late Monday on Bundy's trip followed a high level meeting held by Johnson, one of the President's first activities in the foreign policy field since he recovered from his illness. The President also held a 45-minute National Security Council meeting on the Vietnamese situation.

First-Hand Report
In sending Bundy to Saigon, Johnson is understood to want a detailed, first-hand report on the prospects for developing political stability in the South Vietnamese government which only last week suffered another in a long series of overthrows.

Bundy also may discuss with Taylor whether his own ability to carry out U.S. policy has been impaired by his disputes with Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, South Vietnamese strongman who engineered last week's coup.

12 Below Zero Forecast Here

No More Snow Predicted for Several Days

After recording a relatively warm 18 degrees Monday, Appleton temperatures again dipped to minus 13 degrees early Tuesday.

At 10 a.m. today the mercury rested at minus 11 degrees, with little hope of its getting much higher. Forecast calls for a low of minus 12 tonight, accompanied by light southwesterly winds.

No precipitation is predicted for a few more days, though the half-inch of snow that fell Monday brought the total on the ground to nine inches.

Waupaca Area
Waupaca residents were even colder than those in Appleton, with the low there descending to minus 22 degrees. High temperature Monday was 12, and temperature at 10 a.m. today was still marked at minus 16.

Chilton followed the trend of other cities in the area noting a Monday high of 15 and a low of minus 18 degrees. Four inches of snow was measured after a fresh 2 inch covering fell Monday.

In spite of the cold weather, roads are in good winter driving condition in the northern half of the state and have only a few scattered slippery spots in the southern half.

Sub zero weather continued and there is more coming.

House Expected to Act Soon on Appalachia

Measure Clears Senate Monday on 62-22 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed the Appalachia Aid bill and prompt House action is scheduled on the $1.09 billion measure drawn as an economic pep pill for depressed regions of an 11-state area. House Speaker John W. McCormack said it is likely the bill would be the first major piece of legislation from the 89th Congress to reach the president's desk. Johnson has been pressing for quick action.

The Senate cleared the legislation Monday on a 62-22 roll-call vote after two days' debate. The bill's managers succeeded in fighting off all amendments to weaken the measure or to add development programs for other regions.

Last year the Senate passed a similar measure 45-13. But this died in the House after clearing its Public Works and Rules Committees.

A Public Works subcommittee will open hearings on the legislation Wednesday. House sponsors predict that with a bigger Democratic majority in this Congress, there will be relatively smooth sailing this year.

However, they concede there may be efforts similar to those in the Senate to add programs for other areas suffering economic distress.

20 Killed by Explosion in French Mine

LENS, France (AP) — An explosion rocked a coal mine near here today, killing at least 20 miners. Another miner was missing and nine officials said there was little hope he was alive.

The blast came at the 2,200-foot level at a small, off-hours crew was at work.

The first alert came from a miner in a nearby gallery who telephoned to the surface saying he had felt a violent blast of hot air and that a cloud of smoke was pouring from the gallery where the disaster occurred.

Most of the victims were French. There were several of Polish and Algerian origin.

Smoothed Appalachia Passage

Johnson's Political 'IOU's' May be Stacking Up on Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appears to be in just as much distress as some considered by the Senate Public Works Committee.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., moved swiftly to make 13 New York counties available for the Appalachian aid. Kennedy told the Senate in his maiden speech that the southern tier of counties in New York are poorer than many in the adjacent areas of Pennsylvania.

His brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., got immediate support from his colleagues of the area when he proposed a regional development program for New England.

No Encouragement
About the only area that got no encouragement was the Great Plains section of the Midwest. Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., tried vainly to strike a $17-million item for a land stabilization, conservation and erosion control program from the Appalachian measure.

Sens. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, and Jack Miller, R-Iowa, noids, a local insurance agent, protested that while farmers were being paid to retire land under the feed grain program, the bill would pay Appalachian farmers to put land into production. The amendment was beaten, 56 to 29.

Lausche predicted that there will be "at least six more Appalachians."

Nobody would guess on how many they would coast or when, if ever, the President would get former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, said there was no truth in Reynolds' testimony.

Japan's Leftists Protest Visit by U. S. Nuclear Sub
SASEBO, Japan (AP) — Japanese leftists demonstrated today against the return visit of the U.S. nuclear submarine Seadragon, but police kept the rallies and parades under control.

Police outnumbered the demonstrating Socialists and Communists 2 to 1, as the leftists failed in a call for 5,000 followers to demonstrate against the Seadragon, which arrived today for a four-day visit.

Police estimated 1,000 persons paraded in the streets of the southern port city in the morning, and about 1,300 snake danced through the streets during the afternoon. Their enthusiasm was less than those who demonstrated against the Seadragon's first visit last Nov. 12.

Showdown Averted

No Hope Seen for End To U. N. Dues Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Apparently abandoning hope of breaking the deadlock over assessments, delegates worked today to wind up house-keeping details and bring the most fruitless general assembly in U.N. history to an end.

The assembly won another delay Monday in the threatened U.S.-Soviet showdown over voting rights by agreeing to another week's recess while new efforts are made to negotiate a solution to the U.N. financial crisis.

Doubt Expressed
Some delegates expressed doubt, however, that another week would bring negotiators any nearer a solution than they were two months ago.

Ambassador B. N. Chakravarty of India said he saw no hope for a solution in the next few days.

Member nations agreed to Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey's call for adjournment until Monday. Earlier, Secretary-General U Thant said everyone agreed it was to the United Nations' interest to avert a showdown at this session.

Thant said the assembly agreed on these points:

— All members want to set aside differences to get the United Nations out of its present financial plight.

Assembly Vote
— A confrontation over application of Article 19 denying the assembly vote to any member two years in arrears should be avoided at the current session.

Scores Arrested In Selma Vote Demonstration

King, Leader of Alabama Drive, Remains in Jail

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Sheriff James Clark arrested scores of Negroes today when they staged a right to vote demonstration while their leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., remained in jail.

The Negroes had lined up outside the Dallas County Courthouse and asked to talk with someone on the Voter Registration Board even though the board was not in session.

One of their spokesmen had said before the march began that the demonstration was to seek a way to get the board to remain open more often.

City police arrested King and more than 250 other Negroes Monday when they sought to march to the courthouse in one formation, and charged them with parading without a permit.

Today they allowed the demonstrators to walk unmolested because they moved in small groups.

Public Safety Director Wilson Baker said that did not constitute a parade.

At the courthouse, leaders of the group started in the front door and were told by Clark that the registrars were not in session. He ordered them away and then pushed them back when they refused to move.

Others Join Line
As others joined the line, Clark told them they were interfering with the orderly procedure of Circuit Court which is in the building, and that they would be arrested for contempt of court if they refused to disperse.

When they continued to stand in line, Clark told them they were under arrest for contempt. Sheriffs deputies took 474 teen-agers, mostly high school students absent from class, into custody while picketing the courthouse Monday. Many of them complied with a request from Juvenile Court Judge Bernard Reynolds and filled out

Driver Confirmed As Administrator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate confirmed today President Johnson's nomination of William J. Driver as veterans administrator.

The action came amid bitter controversy over the administration's orders to close 11 veterans hospitals and four soldiers' homes, and over Driver's role in the orders.

Driver's role in orders to close 11 veterans hospitals and four soldiers' homes has stirred some controversy among senators.

Many Witnesses Called
Baker invoked his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination and refused to answer questions.

Since Baker's resignation under fire on Oct. 7, 1963, the Rules Committee has been intractable.

Among a long list of witnesses were Texas millionaire Clinton pay roll at a salary of $19,600 a year.

Lose Ends
The Senate Rules Committee said the hearing was designed to clear up loose ends left after sharply conflicting testimony.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ireland, said last December by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, and Matthew McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor and former ambassador to Ireland.

Reynolds swore he was "the bag man" for channeling $25,000 from McCloskey into the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund. He said he gave the money to Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

The white-thatched McCloskey, former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, said there was no truth in Reynolds' testimony.

Childlessness May be Due To Psychological Reasons

Doctors have discovered that it pays to be persistent in helping childless women become pregnant. Where one corrective measure fails, another or a combination of others may be effective.

This hopeful finding comes from the Margaret Sanger Research Bureau in New York, the main research arm of Planned Parenthood World Population.

At the Sanger Bureau, says Dr. Mildred E. Ward, a study was made of 1,000 previously infertile couples who conceived after treatment at the bureau. In fully one-quarter of the cases, more than one defect needed improving before the wife could conceive. "The message we can get from this group," Dr. Ward said, "is to work at anything possible, because anything may tip the balance. Correcting the first shows including dramas and musicals such as 'Hello, Dolly!' participated in the project.

Switzerland, of the International College of Surgeons, it was revealed that sterility is being overcome even in cases where a woman's fallopian tubes had been cut or tied off to prevent unwanted pregnancies. "The original reasons for sterilization are usually financial," observed Dr. R. W. Binkley of Selma, Calif. "Unfortunately, a change of mind too often follows."

Deficiency Corrective. Another doctor reports still another cause of sterility in women: a possible deficiency in the glycogen, a sugar-like substance in the lining of the uterus. When treated with hormonal substances, the glycogen level is elevated, says Dr. Edward C. Hughes, and pregnancy is achieved and maintained normally. Dr. Hughes is professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the State University of New York's Upstate Medical center in Syracuse.

everything was fine. Letters kept coming and I always answered promptly with full descriptions of my new life. But in the last few months, I have been hearing less and less from them. Do you think I should do a little delaying too? I'm sick about the scarcity of letters for I don't want these wonderful friendships to go into oblivion. Louise Davis Answers:

Delaying your letter replies might create a vacuum with your friendships. I suggest that you analyze yourself and your own letters. Are you writing about yourself, your new life and your surroundings exclusively? If so, you may be boring your friends whose imaginations can stretch only so far. When writing, are you mentally back home into the lives of your friends and their own activities? Do you ask questions about them, their families and your mutual friends? Do you reminisce about episodes and the enjoyment you had when together? If you are interested in their interests and activities by commenting about them, something tells me that you will get

DEAR MRS. A. J. S.: The two explanations aren't mutually contradictory. Early and excessive dating exposes a girl to more pressure than she's equipped to handle constructively at the time. And unpopularity damages the self-esteem that might otherwise enable a girl to protect herself from a hazardous and demeaning experience.

You'll best help your pre-teen daughter by giving her the information she needs to know about sex, by limiting her social activities to ones appropriate for her emotional development, and by keeping her happy and healthy. Why Humphrey Didn't Attend Churchill Rites

Vice President Could Have Been Needed With President Ill

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Why didn't President Johnson send Vice President Humphrey to attend the funeral of Winston Churchill? This question has been asked by many people here in the last few days. But while official quarters have not supplied the answer, the decision on the part of Mr. Johnson was based on obvious circumstances.

The truth is that, although Mr. Johnson came back from the hospital the middle of last week, he stayed in bed much of the time for several days thereafter. The President was aware that throughout the country there was a nervousness about his illness — a fear that it might take a serious turn. If, indeed, he had been well enough to resume his regular activities, there wouldn't have been so much concern. But because Mr. Johnson had not fully recovered from his illness, it was recognized that to send the vice president out of the country at such a time would cause some apprehension.

The whole question of whether a president himself should go out of the country at all has often been debated. Some lawyers have taken the view that whenever a president leaves the jurisdiction of his own country, either the vice president should be considered in office, or that a constitutional amendment should be adopted clearly setting forth that the president does not necessarily have to be in his country to exercise the duties of his office.

More Worries

Inasmuch as public opinion lately has been somewhat apprehensive during President Johnson's illness, sending the vice president abroad at this time might have compounded the worries of the nation.

The United States government did, of course, pay honor to the departed statesman by sending an official delegation. It would have been regarded as a higher tribute if the President himself could have gone to London, but everybody in Britain as well as in this country realized that Mr. Johnson had been ill and that his physicians would not want to take any chances of a re-infection or of some other medical consequence which might result from a journey abroad.

Perhaps Mr. Johnson did make one mistake. He might well have chosen Dwight Eisenhower to represent the United States government, not just as a man who had twice served as president, but because of his ties with the British people and leaders while he was general of the American armies and supreme commander of allied forces in Europe during World War II. The fact that Winston Churchill and Dwight Eisenhower were such close friends, and together made some of the really major decisions during the war, was enough to warrant the designation of General Eisenhower as an official representative of the United States.

Private Citizen

While General Eisenhower attended the funeral, he did so as a private citizen and a friend invited by the Churchill family. In his farewell tribute, broadcast over the British Broadcasting Corporation as the funeral ceremonies were ending, he said somewhat wistfully:

"As I, like all other free men, pause to pay a personal tribute to the giant who now passes from among us, I have no charter to speak for my countrymen — only for myself. But if, in memory, we journey back two decades to the time when American and British stood shoulder to shoulder in global conflict against tyranny, then I can presume — with propriety, I think — to act as spokesman for the millions of Americans who served with me and with their British comrades during those three years of war on this sector of the earth."

There has been much talk here in Washington about why President Johnson didn't appoint some members of Congress to go along as a part of the American delegation to the Churchill funeral. Inasmuch as Winston Churchill's political life was spent for the most part in the House of Commons, and since he has addressed the Congress of the United States on his visits here, it would have seemed appropriate to send the leaders from each house as a part of the official delegation. Since Chief Justice Warren and Secretary of State Rusk represented the judicial and executive branches of the government, the delegation might logically have included prominent members of the legislative branch.

Public Opinion

The vice president, as presiding officer of the Senate would, of course, have represented Congress as well as the presidency. But Mr. Johnson was unquestionably sensitive to public opinion when he decided not to complicate the problem further by sending the vice president out of the United States at this time.

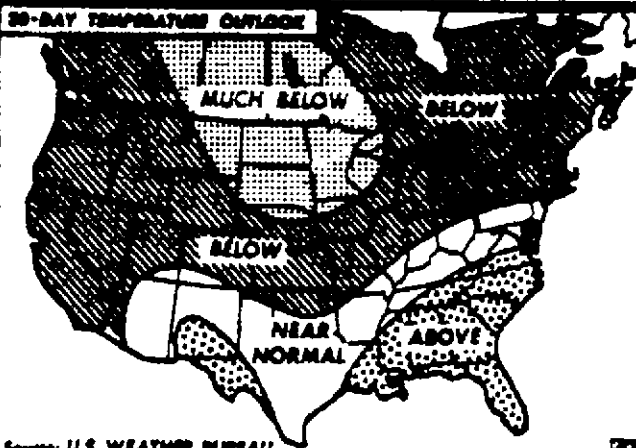

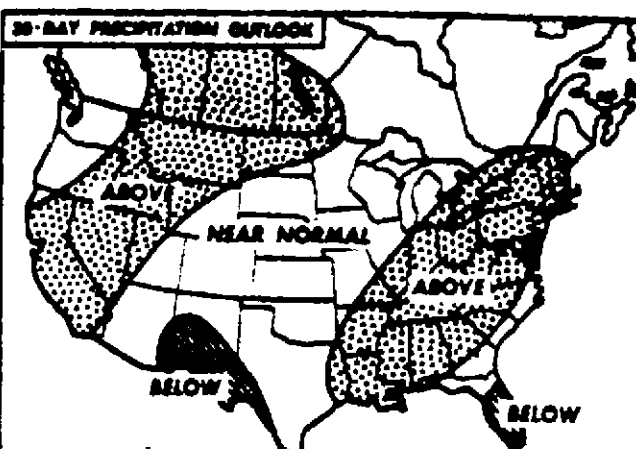

There is, moreover, a nervousness these days about the whole question of presidential succession, and Mr. Johnson has sent a message to Congress recommending that something be done to clarify what happens when a president is disabled. The very prominence given to this subject indicates that the country is not satisfied with the vague arrangements that have been made as between a president and a vice president, even though they informally agree what should be done in the event that the chief executive is temporarily too ill to serve.

AEC Denies There Are Any Plans for Its Reorganization

Commission Claims Many Projects on Its Calendar

BY FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission is fuming almost as hotly as a split atom over suggestions that it is administratively disorganized, plagued by discord and coming downgraded in government stature—and running out of things to do.

Vigorously denying any such ideas, the AEC also says that things are going so well under his present five member staff that there's no movement afoot within the commission—as there was a couple of years ago—to have the agency changed to a single administrator type of operation.

Finally, Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the agency, says he knows of no basis for suggestions that the AEC feels subservient to the Joint Senate House Atomic Energy Committee—that is, suggestions that the AEC feels compelled to take unusual steps in carrying out its legal responsibilities to the committee.

Seaborg, a Nobel Prize winner who is top man in the nation's atomic enterprise, was particularly forceful during an interview in challenging any idea that the AEC is headed over the hill into obsolescence, largely because it has built up a stockpile of nuclear weapons and so much fissionable materials that production cutbacks already have been ordered.

"The AEC's functions have been more diverse," he said, "and that speaks to the point 'Is the AEC obsolete?'"

Never have we had a more diverse operation in the whole history of the commission," he said.

Other Findings
And the AEC as a whole, contends that it has a host of big jobs still on its calendar—ranging from the quest to take salt out of seawater to developing "a wide variety of nuclear weapons."

On other fronts there were these findings:

1 Moves within the commission itself for reorganization into a single administrator outfit appear to have occurred largely in 1962. And there is no available evidence of any strong moves anywhere today for such a change.

2 Several members of the Joint Senate House Atomic Committee said the committee exerts no undue power over the AEC. And another—Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., a former chairman of the committee—said any discord in the AEC's relationships with its own staff prevailed only in a two-year period ending in mid-1962 and "I don't believe it is true today."

3 State Department officials say the AEC is increasingly "coming into the mainstream" of international policy matters to help further the government.

As to suggestions the AEC is losing status within the government, the AEC points to a speech made by one of its present commissioners, attorney John Palfrey, just about a year ago.

Palfrey said the most significant development in the administration of atomic affairs in recent years had been a centralization of decision making and the participation of the President and other members of the Security Council in major atomic decisions.

The White House Office of Science and Technology said in answer to a query that while it assists the President in framing atomic energy and other national policies in the science field, primary responsibility for the development of policies in the field of atomic energy resides in the Atomic Energy Commission.

Seaborg said it's true the commission itself, in 1962—and with a different composition of members then today—favored reorganization into a one-head outfit. But he said the present situation is this: administrator might make decisions faster, but it's the feeling of the present commission that the five-member operation is working so satisfactorily that such a change is not necessary.

I can go either way. And the feeling was never strong one way or the other (within the commission) for such a reorganization.

With respect to the AEC's relationship with the Joint Senate House Atomic Committee, Seaborg said:

"I don't think the AEC feels subservient, and I don't think the committee feels we are. The joint committee is made up of bigger people than that. Actually, the atomic energy law requires that the AEC, and other departments, such as the Defense Department, keep the joint committee fully and currently informed about all their activities."

There's Good News On School Dropouts

BY SYLVIA PORTER
This June 2,295,599 students will graduate from U.S. high schools—a jump of 141 per cent over last June's number and comparing with a rise in high school enrollment of only 41 per cent over last year.

Porter

During the past decade the number of high school graduates has soared 93 per cent—more than double the over all increase in school enrollment—and there are now a record 12.7 million students in high school.

The rate of high school enrollment has grown at six times the rate of our population growth in this century and college enrollment has grown eightfold in the same period.

One quarter of all Americans education programs in his budget times only 16 per cent of our et for fiscal 1966—even though youngsters will manage to finish this is up 75 per cent over college. Yet, our era demands federal assistance to education as never before a work force of in the current '65 year highly educated men and women.

In realistic appraisal of the nation's young will not attend college, the Office of Education with less than a high school education is four times the side of the education story in vocational education in the national jobless rate—and coming fiscal year. In equally while job opportunities for high glistering statistics highlight the realistic appraisal of the fact school graduates have climbed that there are great weaknesses 40 per cent during the past in our elementary and high decade, opportunities for those school education systems, the with less schooling have declined 10 per cent.

They also underline a deeply refreshing aspect. With national stress is to be on innovation in determination (and enough these systems, especially for money) we can conquer our children."

Heartening News
It is inevitable that we'll spend skyrocketing totals on education at the federal as well of as state and local levels in coming years. Under the college is $417,000 against only circumstances, news of the program $184,000 for a man with eight years of schooling.

Education obviously lies at the foundation of any Great Society. Reaching for More

Reds View Buddhist Power as Beginning of Success in Viet Nam

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
Signs indicate that militant Buddhist leaders in South Viet Nam are reaching for power. If they succeed the Communists probably will view it as the beginning of the final phase of their war to envelop the country.

Should the leaders of the recent Buddhist strife take over, the pressure on Americans to leave the country may be come close to intolerable.

What may have happened to the Americans in Indochina is a clash between an Oriental situation and the Western mind. Americans are constantly baffled and frustrated by events in South Viet Nam.

Matter of Face
Like other Orientals, Buddhists in Viet Nam set much store by face. Having taken a stand or having made a demand, they would likely consider its satisfaction a matter of face.

Buddhist demands, once based largely on religious complaints, have billowed into a political campaign. Seeking more power, the militant leaders from the northern part of South Viet Nam attacked the existing regime in Saigon, and by so doing found themselves in opposition to the Americans, who thus became political antagonists.

Neither Side
Thich Tri Quang, one of the major leaders of the Buddhist strife which overthrew Premier Tran Van Huong, says he is neither anti-American nor pro-Communist, but significantly adds that there is resentment because American misunderstanding the whole problem, and thus received a share of the hate directed against Premier Tran Van Huong.

Huong's fall is unlikely to brake Buddhist demands. Li Gen Nguyen Khanh, the resilient strong man, probably will feel the pressure again. The Buddhists seem out for power. Having judged the Americans as obstacles the Buddhists should they succeed, might well consider it a matter of face to repudiate the United States.

The tone of Communist pronouncements from Hanoi in North Viet Nam indicates it

Committee Airs Personnel Topic At City Hall

Clerk's Office Is Discussed During Closed Door Session

Mounting city hall personnel problems and "reports of attrition" were discussed behind closed doors Monday afternoon by the city council's personnel committee.

No official action was taken but discussion was lengthy and known to have dealt mostly with the city clerk's office.

The committee reviewed morale and other internal matters, including an alleged incident last week which reportedly had some women employees in tears.

City Clerk Elden Broehm did not attend the meeting, nor did any other city hall department heads.

Committee members were told of one recent resignation in the clerk's office, and the possibility of others.

Asked to comment today, Broehm said there had been a misunderstanding and the employee withdrew her resignation this morning.

He had appeared before the finance committee Monday night and requested permission to fill a vacancy on his staff. The committee gave him authorization to do so.

Broehm said because there now would be no vacancy, the matter would be stricken from the committee's report.

He said there are no personnel problems within his office. Ald. E. V. Krueger (11th), chairman of the personnel committee, said Monday that some matters had been called to the committee's attention which would have to be looked into. He did not elaborate.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell said he heard of an outburst in the clerk's office one day last week, but he (Mitchell) was not of Town of Menasha property involved personally.

In recent months, aldermen have received reports of "strained relations" between the clerk's office and a few others at city hall.

A Staff Planning Session was held Monday night for the forthcoming university of scouting, planned by Valley Council scout executives as a training session for leaders of cub scout, boy scout and explorer groups. The first of the series of five sessions will be Feb. 18 at First Methodist church of Appleton. Seated is Ty Steffl, general chairman of the program. Standing, from left, are Dr. Thomas Alt, Neenah, chairman for explorer leader training; Kenneth Felton, chairman of cub scout training, and Ron Christianson, publicity chairman. Menasha Attorney Defends City's Annexation of Land

Richard Steffens Denies 'Piracy' Accusation by Town of Menasha

MENASHA — City Atty. Richard Steffens Monday night defended the pending annexation of 78 acres to the city and denied there was any "pirating" but he (Mitchell) was not of Town of Menasha property involved.

A petition for annexation to the city has been filed by James Lewandowski for 44 acres he is developing on the northeast side of Menasha and for 34 acres area with a population of 1,000, the city attorney added.

Action on the annexation is expected tonight with seven votes needed for passage.

Condemnation proceedings against the Lyle Remick property, will be continued if they do not receive satisfaction from him, aldermen decided Monday.

Owners of the property, who do not live on the land, had objected to the proposed annexation to Town of Menasha officials last week. Steffens told the council, at its committee of the whole session, the annexation procedure was perfectly legal and the method has been used many times by him a number of times without success.

Use of the city garage for the annual Winnegamie Dog Club Menasha and create an iron show this spring was asked of the council by John Becker. An increase in rental from $200 to $225 had been recommended but the aldermen agreed to go along with the same rental figure as in the city's history and one of last year. Director of Public Works Robert Poss said it cost the city about $207 in labor last year.

Air Parking Requests

Oh, That City Hall Lot! It's a Big, Bad 'Pain'

The city hall parking lot continues to give municipal officials a headache.

Certain municipal employees, who use personal cars in conjunction with city duties, are pressing their demand for free parking.

And, again the matter came before the council's personnel committee and was discussed for more than an hour Monday.

Such a privilege, if granted to some employees, would be considered a fringe benefit under the city's thinking and thus the personnel committee enters into the picture.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell and Merton Ehrlicke, the latter representing a group of city hall employees, reported on a recent meeting of a subcommittee set up to discuss the free parking proposal.

Mitchell and Ehrlicke were agreed that the subcommittee members could not agree on a solution which would make everyone happy.

However, it was ascertained that if parking decals are to be distributed free to some city hall employees requiring the use of their car daily, about 17 would be eligible for the "fringe benefit".

Mitchell said it was his personal opinion that any employee receiving a car allowance from the city should be entitled to a stall in the city hall lot between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Lot Is Metered "They would have to make applications to the committee which has jurisdiction over the department, and then each request would be acted on by the common council," Mitchell said.

Ald. E. V. Krueger (11th), committee chairman, said if city hall employees are required to use their cars in carrying out the duties of their job, free parking would be justified.

The lot, which has 42 stalls, is metered Department heads and others say they lose considerable time "feeding" the meters when their cars are parked in the lot or on adjacent streets. It cuts into their income, too, they say.

The stalls are now available on a first come, first pay basis.

Violinist David Abel On Lawrence Benefit Program Wednesday

Violin sonatas by Mozart and Debussy, and three contemporary scores will be heard on the program of guest artist David Abel, playing at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at Lawrence University's Harper Hall. The concert is a scholarship benefit sponsored by Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary music group. Tickets are available from the organization's members, and at the Lawrence University Box Office, 115 N. Park Ave.

Abel is concertmaster at the Oakland, Calif., Symphony. He was a 1964 finalist in Leventritt International violin competition.

His program is evenly divided between classic-romantic works, and contemporary selections.

School Library Circulation Up

Kimberly Junior High Pupils More Than Double Use of Books

KIMBERLY — A marked increase in usage of the library facilities at J. R. Gerrits Junior High School has been noted during the first semester, according to Mrs. Joyce Hardtke, librarian.

Circulation for the first semester was 7,383 compared to total circulation of 5,888 for the entire 1963-64 school year, noted Mrs. Hardtke. Fiction circulated for the first one-half year amounted to 3,159 compared to 2,852 for the full school year in 1963-64 and non-fiction circulation increased from 3,036 to 4,088.

The librarian began circulation of periodicals and pamphlets for the first time last semester and 88 periodicals and 48 pamphlets were withdrawn. Audio-visual filmstrips circulated in the first semester numbered 344 compared to 94 the previous year.

Students Learn All seventh graders received a complete basic unit on library science during the semester, including two periods of lecture and three of laboratory work. The librarian and teachers agreed eighth and ninth graders needed library science instruction, be offered in English classes.

Several students have volunteered to devote free time to assisting the librarian, put up special displays and exhibits, decorations and educational bulletin boards. Workers include Carol Lenz, Ellen Hermus, Mary Jo Van Zealand, Lila Heller, Sue Dittmar, Barbara Vanderheiden, Shirley Laha, Mary Jo Lenz, Jane Wald, Greg Kozlowski, Danny Mar and Diane Jansen.

Wisconsin Cheese

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin cheddar cheese market today: prices unchanged; movement of current trading stocks mostly fair; supplies of all current styles ample but irregularly distributed. Prices: cheddars 36½-39½; 40-pound blocks 36½-39½; to choice 20.50-23.50; common to single daisies 39½-39½; long-lutility 16.00-20.00, cuts 14.00-horns 39½-39½; midguts 39½-41.00.

Share Prices In Decline

Favored Issues Rise Less Than Point in Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices eased as trading was moderate early this afternoon.

The decline was irregular, with a minority of favored issues rising from fractions to about a point.

After seven straight daily gains by the Dow Jones industrial average, Wall Street analysts saw stocks as heading for a period of rest and "correction."

There was no particular eagerness to unload.

General Motors sank as much as 1½ as traders expressed disappointment that directors Monday proposed no stock split, although they did raise the dividend. The stock declined to 100, then recovered partially to show a net loss of about a point.

Rails, electrical equipments, tobaccos, coppers and utilities were mostly lower. An irregular pattern prevailed among most stock groups.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 336.7 with utilities off .5, rails off .3 and utilities off 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 1.15 at 902.53.

Other auto stocks did very little. Ford eased. Chrysler lost a fraction. American Motors and Studebaker were unchanged. Steels were unchanged to a shade higher.

Among wider-moving issues, Xerox fell 2 and IBM (ex dividend) 1. Losses of around a point were taken by Du Pont and International Harvester.

Milwaukee Livestock

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Opening trend at the Milwaukee stockyards today: markets not established by noon because of extreme weather conditions. Monday's cattle market closed steady to strong, calves were steady to weak, hogs were strong to 50 higher and lambs were steady to 50 higher. Estimated receipts for today 1,000 cattle; 1,200 calves; 500 hogs, and 200 sheep.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Monday's cattle market fully steady; good to choice steers 20.00-23.00; good to choice heifers 19.50-22.00; standards to low good Holstein steers 16.50-18.50; standard dairy heifers 14.00-16.00; utility cows 13.00-14.00; canners and cutters 11.00-13.00; commercial bulls 17.50-18.50; common to utility 15.50-17.50.

Soo Line Reports 1964 Best Year Since Merger

Net income for the Soo Line Railroad Co. in 1964 was the highest since the company was formed through merger four years ago, according to Leonard H. Murray, president.

The railroad's 1964 net income was $4,353,369, or $3.44 per share. In 1963, the Soo's net income was $4,096,34 or $3.24 per share.

Murray said the company's profits have increased in each of the four years since the merger. The company's net income in 1964 was 6.3 per cent greater than that for 1963.

The Soo had total revenues in 1964 of $81,894,451, compared to $80,563,650 for 1963.

Wisconsin Planners To Hear Talk on 1964 Opportunity Act

Raymond C. Gladieux, executive secretary of the Social Development Commission of Greater Milwaukee, will speak on the "Economic Opportunity Act of 1964" at the Association of Wisconsin Planners dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Steak Ranch, 625 N. Fourth St., Milwaukee.

Emil L. Brandt of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission and program chairman for the event, said Gladieux will discuss the federal act in relationship to Milwaukee and the possible application of the act in other areas of the state.

High Court Upholds Fee For Lawyer

Attorney Helped Tigerton Company Settle Tax Claim

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A Chicago lawyer and accountant is entitled to collect fees and expenses from the Tigerton Lumber Co. for services rendered in litigation with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service about corporation taxes, but not in the amount he claimed, the Wisconsin State Supreme Court ruled today.

The court upheld the findings of Judge Andrew W. Parnell in Shawano County Circuit Court holding that Wilbur Giffen of Chicago should be paid $3,725 plus disbursements as reasonable compensation for his work which led to the reduction of a federal tax assessment against the firm.

Sues For $8,960

Giffen had sued for $8,960 in the addition to his disbursements. He filed the appeal, also asking interest on the unpaid amount. The trial court awarded the fee and the company appealed from the interest assessment. The case involved a 1958 dispute about the computation of lumber company inventories for tax purposes during the period from 1949 to 1954.

The government claimed a deficiency of $30,551. The dispute was settled by the Internal Revenue Service for the payment of $5,814 after a series of conferences.

Rep. Davis to Speak At Lincoln Day Dinner

Dr. David Grunwaldt, Kaukauna, Chairman
For Outagamie County Event Feb. 12

Glenn R. Davis, Waukesha, since 1957, Davis was representative from Wisconsin's elected last November to the ninth Congressional District, 89th Congress from the newly created ninth District. He is now commencing his seventh year on the House Committee on Appropriations after prior service on the Veterans Affairs Committee.

Rep. G. R. Davis

by Dr. David Grunwaldt, Kaukauna, dinner chairman
Rep. Davis who was born on a farm in Waukesha County in 1914 attended a one-room rural school, and graduated from Mukwonago High School and from Platteville State Teachers College (now University of Wisconsin Platteville). After teaching in secondary schools for four years, Davis returned to school earning his law degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1940. That year, he was elected to the Wisconsin State Assembly from the First District of Waukesha County. Davis served on active duty as a U. S. Naval Reserve officer from 1942 to 1945, and was first elected to the 80th Congress in the special election in 1947. He was re-elected for four succeeding terms.

Appleton Man Gains Release From Prison

High Court Rules
Conviction Illegal
In Outagamie Court

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin State Supreme Court today ordered the release from state prison of Elmer Barth of Appleton after ruling that he was illegally convicted last August on a homosexual charge in the Outagamie County court of Judge Gustave J. Keller.

In an opinion written by Justice Myron Gordon, the court held that Barth's unsubstantiated confession of the crime was not sufficient to sustain a conviction.

He was convicted without a jury after a plea of guilty and was sentenced to an indeterminate term of not more than two years in the state penitentiary at Waupun.

Not Corroborated

The court called his confession 'extra judicial' and said it has not been corroborated. In a state conceded that an unsubstantiated confession is inadmissible, the court ruled that the confession has been sufficiently verified.

Barth was questioned by Appleton police last July 4 upon the complaint of a neighbor. The confession was not related to the complaint being investigated by the police at the time, according to the court's opinion.

Justice Gordon also ruled for the court that the state is not entitled to try Barth again. The court said the warden of the prison should return him to the Outagamie County sheriff for the completion of his release.

Eye Bank May Be Established By Lions Club

must agree to provide telephone service 24 hours a day.

2. The sponsoring organization must set up an administrative committee including at least one eye specialist.

3. Definite arrangements must be made with a number of physicians to be on call 24 hours a day to remove eyes from donors, either for a fee or by donating their services.

4. An ophthalmologist must train other physicians to remove the eyes from donors.

5. Arrangements must be made for transportation of the eyes to the eye bank or to physicians who are on the list to receive eyes for corneal transplants. Communities served by North Central Airlines should use this service whenever possible.

From $50 to $60 will furnish all the equipment necessary for establishing an eye bank station, Herb said. This includes shipping containers and instruments for removal of eyes. The only other cost is for transportation to the eye bank, through airlines, sheriff's department, state patrol or other arrangements, he said.

There is no age limitation for a donor, and unless an ailment directly affects the eye, health conditions do not interfere with donations, he said.

Pledge

A donor signs a pledge card which is returned to the eye bank headquarters, carries a small card with him and should notify his next of kin of his intentions to donate his eyes, he said.

I am sure you will have no problem getting donors," Herb said.

Corneal transplants do not correct all blindness, but only certain conditions, he stressed.

Dr. Edward J. Zeiss, Appleton ophthalmologist and a guest at the meeting, said it must not be anticipated that all corneal transplants restore 20-20 vision, although in some cases they do. The average person will regain 20-70 vision, about 30 per cent of normal vision, he said, but this is a very useful amount of vision.

Outagamie Sheriff Probing 'Beer Stamp' Nights in Bars

Some Outagamie County beer bars may be asked to review certain policies regarding "beer stamp" nights which allow patrons to drink free beer after paying admission at the door.

Sheriff Calvin Spice said today that at least three county beer bars employ the policy, which, he said, barely skirts the law against allowing free beer.

Patrons are allowed to drink as much beer as they desire after paying an admission at the door. The admission ranges between $1 and $1.50, Spice said, and generally allows the patron up to four hours of drinking.

Spice said the policy encourages large consumption of beer on the part of the patron, most of whom are less than 20 years old. Spice said the practice may encourage poor driving on the roads near the beer bars.

Spice said he has contacted

Judge Orders Village to Give Records

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell today ordered officials of the Village of Combined Locks to provide all records and testimony used to determine the assessed real and personal property value of the Combined Locks Paper Co.

The village has 20 days in which to comply with the order granted on petition of the paper firm which is fighting a 1964 assessed valuation.

The firm which was assessed at $7,679,784 in real value and $1,016,400 in personal value has charged the village had no evidence to support the assessments that the board of review ignored evidence from the firm that rules of assessment applied to the firm were different and "at a higher rate" than those used for other village property, and that a reduction granted by the board of review in August 1964, was inadequate.

Urges Caution At Intersections

COMBINED LOCKS — Police Chief Ernest Danielson warned motorists Monday to use extreme caution at intersections in the village, particularly when pedestrians are present.

State law requires all motorists to yield the way to pedestrians at intersections. Some motorists have been noted driving through intersections and sounding their horn rather than stopping or yielding to pedestrians, said the chief.

Van Camp was arrested on Nov. 11 by a state patrolman when youngsters on the Van Camp claimed the crossing way to school are heavily bundled and have their vision drivers are not required to be on the lookout and explained that the track runs drivers failing to yield right of between cities, so it is consider way to pedestrians will be prosecuted.

High Court Rules Legislature Sole Judge of Its Membership

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin District Assembly race. The sin Supreme Court ruled today board set Elfers' margin at 13 that the state Legislature is the votes.

The unanimous decision held the 19460 ballots involved and Russell Olson, a Republican three months after the election from Bassett, had been legally awarded the Assembly seat to installed as a member of the Olson on the strength of a sin 1963 State Assembly and ruled the vote.

Elfers appealed and last May County Judge John C. Ahlgrum ruled that Olson had 'unsurpassed the office' and that Elfers should be reinstated.

The Board of Canvassers declared Elfers the 1962 election winner of Kenosha County's 2nd district.

Under our system of government this is one decision which the Constitution leaves to the Legislature alone to make said Wilkie.

We do not endorse the Assembly verdict neither do we reject it. Under the circumstances this decision simply, is none of our business.

Wilkie said that if the voters of the district did not approve the decision of the Assembly their recourse is at the polls.

Elfers defeated Olson in the Nov. 3 election by 1,077 votes and now holds the disputed Assembly seat. The high court decision rejected Elfers' request for back pay and allowances for the 1963 session.

Aromatic Notebook Has Homemade Sachet Inside It

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's fun-project directions enable you to be the only one in school who has a perfumed notebook.

The pleasant aroma that surrounds the notebook will arouse curiosity among classmates. Sooner or later they are bound to want to know where you found such an unusual notebook. You then may let them in on the secret, or not, as you wish.

The secret is simple. You equip the notebook with a homemade sachet which is hidden in the backbone of the book, beneath the three rings which hold it together (Figure 1).

Figure 1 shows the ring-binder type of book suitable for this purpose. Figure 2 shows a tube of cloth which you must sew and fill with sachet powder. Use fine stitches to be sure the powder cannot sift out. Also be sure the ends are securely closed with stitches.

Slip the fragrant tube beneath the rings of the notebook and fasten it in place with short strips of adhesive tape (Figure 2).

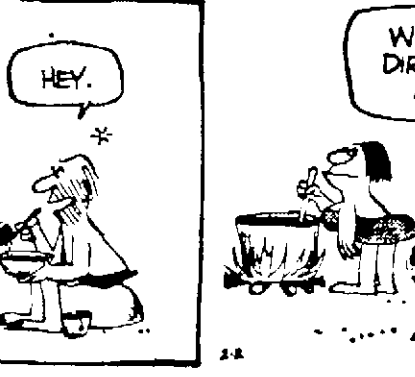

This completes the preparations. The only things remaining are (1) enjoy the scent yourself and (2) accept the compliments of your friends.

Andy Griffith Decides To Return Next Season

Loss of Deputy Don Knotts Only Change In Format of Popular Television Show

BY BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fans of Andy Griffith's bucolic humor can relax — he'll be back on television for another year. Griffith announced today that he plans to return to his regular Monday night spot on CBS for a sixth season. The decision came after a year of soul searching. He even consulted a psychiatrist about it — but as a friend, not a patient.

The North Carolinian was talking about his decision on Stage 1 at the Desilu Cahuenga Studios, where he has spent a large chunk of the past five years. That's the place "The Andy Griffith Show" is filmed and he admitted that sometimes the surroundings begin to wear on him.

Enjoys Working

Why will he remain?

Not just for the money. Five years of a television show is usually enough to make a star a millionaire, and the sixth is merely frosting on the annuities.

"I'm staying not for the pay," he remarked. "I can work somewhere else and make a living, no doubt about that."

"For more than a year I've been asking people I work with and friends that I trust whether I should remain on the show for another year. In every case they said yes, and with different reasons. Still, I wasn't satisfied."

Finally I talked to a friend of mine who is both a psychiatrist and a psychologist and is out of show business. Between the two of us we figured out the reason why I should stay.

Active Person

"It's simply this. I am a fair, active sort of a man. I am happy when I am working. Why we just had a two-week vacation at the end of the year and I was just aching to get back to work before the first week was three fourths over."

"I've got a steady job where I know I can work every week. So why shouldn't I stay with it?" He gave his decision to CBS and his sponsor, General Foods and it was happily received. Andy having long been a rating puller on Monday night.

Small City Folks

Andy qualified that "I've never been a top scorer in the big-city ratings, but I do pretty good in the over all ratings that take in the smaller towns. Thank heaven there's a lot of them because I don't think the big-city folks understand me too good."

"The Andy Griffith Show" will be changed in its sixth year with the loss of Deputy Don Knotts, multiple Emmy winner. Said Andy: "I'll miss him, but I think it was time for Don to cut out for his own good. After all he's been on weekly television for nine years, four with the captain exchanges his aide (to spy on the crew) for the ensign."

7-30-8 (Channel 11) — Again it's Binghamton versus Parker on McHale's Navy. And again, Joe Flynn and Tim Conway are the actors who will win your applause and laughter. In "McHale's Floating Laundromat," Steve Allen and five with me. He has a contract with Universal for features and I think he should do right well."

7-30-8 (Channel 4-5) — Hullabaloo continues its disjointed way with enough "Jerk" and "Swim" music to delight Miss Teen-age America's heart. And she'll be there, too. Barbara Heumann, the 1965 winner along with host Paul Anka (his second trip) (COLOR).

8-30-9 (Channel 11) — The fun and games on Peyton Place are getting down to serious business as Betty once alone in New York joins the city's merry-go-round of social activities, and Allison uncover some startling facts about Elliot.

8-30-9 (Channel 4-5) — That Was the Week That Was is up to its brittle best as Phyllis Newman, David Frost, Nancy Ames, Pat Englund, Bob Dushy and Buck Henry continue to give anyone and anything black-eyes with their whiplash satire on topical events (COLOR).

9-10 (Channel 2) — Eileen Heckart, absent much too much this season turns in a night-volatile performance on "The Doctors and the Nurses." "Night of the Witch" she scares the daylight out of the quartet of hospital regulars (Zina Bethune, Shirl Conway, Joseph Campanella and Michael Tolan) when she invites them home for dinner.

9-10 (Channel 11) — The Fugitive has a well meaning, and often tense episode with "Scapegoat." Kumble (David Janssen) escapes from another town in the nick of time only to discover that his conscience doesn't have a ghost of a chance when he finds out somebody is being held there for murdering him.

In clinical tests of new M.P.O. — an advanced treatment for hemorrhoids (piles) — doctors reported "results were good to excellent" for 5 out of every 6 patients. M.P.O. works 5 ways for faster, longer-lasting relief:

1. Helps ease pain faster. You get more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients, including Benzocaine, than in the preparation you may now be using.
2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Epinephrine Sulfate, to reduce swelling.
3. Reduces embarrassing itching. M.P.O. is formulated for faster absorption, faster relief.
4. Gives longer relief. A more temperature-stable base holds medication in place, prolongs relief-bringing action.
5. Fights danger of infection. Proven germ-killer Benzochlorophene combats bacteria.

M.P.O. is a development of Meutholtz Laboratories. Available in standard ointment or suppositories at all drug concerns.

George Hamilton and Susan Oliver are sweethearts in the movie "Cheatin' Hearts," opening Wednesday at the Viking Theater in Appleton and the Raulf Theater in Oshkosh. It's the story of country-western singer Hank Williams with Red Buttons, Arthur O'Connell and Chris Crosby also featured players.

Life in Formosa Like Life in Suburbia, U. S.

BY T. JEFF WILLIAMS — But most avoid it. Those who are enticed out regularly come to enjoy it, but none would dare eat at the street stalls or from pushcart hawkers.

For recreation, Americans go to their own elaborate clubs for dancing or floor shows. They attend movies at military theaters.

The biggest single attraction is golf played year-round at Tamsui, some 14 miles from Taipei. The course is considered one of the finest — and toughest — in Asia.

But Americans argue that months Children often swim in pools built within the grounds of the suburban compounds. Many prefer to go to the beaches but only one beach near Taipei has been established as a recreation area where the water city that attract window shop-pers. For bachelors living here however, life can be a steady round of wine, women and song. Two English-language papers run daily advertisements of bars with names like Club Playmate or Club Eros. And all claim they have the most attractive hostesses in town.

Legal Prostitution Prostitution which is legal-ized by the government, is well-established in a tree shaded city just six miles north of Taipei. Scores of hotels, most with hot spring baths cater to their hundreds of nightly visitors.

American families living in the city called Peitou find the brisk prostitution business poses little or no disturbance. The only complaint seems to be the noise of motorcycles constantly ferrying girls to Taipei.

But easy access of women and wine has created problems at the American high school near Taipei Teachers find it nearly impossible — and out of their line — to keep tabs on the students after school hours. Much of the blame is put on parents. One teacher explained that parents attending parties leave the children with the Chinese servants. The servants, the teacher explained are fearful of angering the children because they may lose their jobs. So little or no control is exercised.

Sixth-Ranked Duke Crushes Maryland; Kentucky Wins

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. John's University Redmen took a giant stride along the comeback trail in college basketball Monday night in much the same fashion Floyd Patterson did in boxing by out-punching George Chuvalo.

The Redmen from New York beat Chicago Loyola 92-87 and the result was as much a surprise as the 75-50 bombing St. John's absorbed from Marquette in Milwaukee Saturday, a defeat that dropped the Redmen out of The Associated Press Top Ten.

After Saturday's wallowing, the Redmen weren't given much against Loyola, upset winner over especially on the Ramblers' home court where they hadn't lost in four years.

But Coach Joe Lapchick's boys turned the trick and they did it the hard way. They erased a 10-point Loyola lead in the second half on two key baskets by Jerry Houston. The first put the Redmen ahead at 76-75 and the second put St. John's ahead for good at 82-80. Houston finished with 22 points compared to 25 for his teammate, Bob McIntyre. Loyola's Billy Smith was high for the game with 28.

The sixth-ranked Duke Blue Devils crushed Maryland 82-62 at Durham to tie N.C. State for the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference and the touring 10th-ranked San Francisco Dons took a 59-53 licking from the Tulsa Hurricanes.

Tennessee chalked up its seventh straight and kept on the heels of Vanderbilt in the Southeastern Conference by whipping Florida 75-43 at Knoxville. Kentucky kept alive its slim SEC hopes with a 96-64 triumph over Georgia.

Michigan '5' Nudges UCLA From Top Spot

Wolverines Net 21 First Place Votes in AP Poll

Michigan' Wolverines forged into first place ahead of UCLA in The Associated Press' major college basketball poll today while Davidson, Duke, Indiana and Vanderbilt gained ground.

The Wolverines climbed to No. 1 after beating Michigan State 103-98 in overtime and Purdue 98-81 for a 13-2 record. UCLA dropped its second game of the season, 87-82 to Iowa.

Michigan collected 21 first place votes and 373 points in the balloting by a special panel of 40 regional experts. UCLA polled nine votes for the top position and 314 points, the latter on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second etc.

UCLA, which rebounded from its Iowa setback to beat Chicago Loyola, has a 14-2 mark. The voting was based on games through Saturday, Jan. 30.

St. Joseph's, Pa., 17-1, held third place although it collected three first place votes to seven for unbeaten Providence which remained in fourth spot. The Hawks, who won twice last week, collected 285 points. Providence, which beat Rhode Island 75-56 and St. Bonaventure 77-76 to increase its record to 14-0, had 279 points.

Indiana Upe

Duke and Indiana moved up although neither played last week. The Blue Devils climbed from 10th to sixth and the Hoosiers from ninth to seventh. Duke has a 10-2 record and Indiana is at 12-2.

Vanderbilt, unranked a week ago, soared to ninth place. The Commodores lead the Southeastern Conference with 6-0 and are 14-2 overall.

Whichita, San Francisco and St. John's, N.Y. all lost ground. The Shockers fell from fifth to eighth after losing to Chicago Loyola 93-92 in overtime. It was their third setback.

San Francisco dropped two places to 10th. The Dons are 13-2 after splitting two decisions last week. They lost to Arizona 71-56 and came back to whip Arizona State 91-75.

St. John's was overwhelmed by Marquette 78-50 and dropped out of the first 10. The Redmen were seventh last week.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, won't records through Saturday, Jan. 30 and total points in 1964-65 season:

1. Michigan (21)	132	373
2. UCLA (9)	142	314
3. St. Joseph's, Pa. (3)	171	285
4. Providence (17)	140	279
5. Davidson	161	269
6. Duke	133	93
7. Indiana	127	13
8. Wichita	123	93
9. Vanderbilt	142	92
10. San Francisco	132	54

Other teams receiving votes listed alphabetically: Arizona, Brigham Young, Connecticut, DePaul, Eastern Kentucky, Illinois, Iowa, Miami, Ohio, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina State, Oklahoma State, Penn State, St. John's, N.Y., Tennessee, Texas Tech, Villanova.

Lakers Obtain Hawks' McGill

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Billy McGill, 6-foot-9 former star at Utah, is the newest member of the Los Angeles Lakers squad.

McGill, Baltimore's No. 1 draft choice in 1962, was released by St. Louis early this year after going to the Hawks in a trade. He has been playing in the North American League, a circuit in the Michigan area.

The Lakers released Cotton Nash, their 6-6 1/2 forward from Kentucky, to sign McGill.

Subdued After Sunday Turmoil

Red Auerbach Won't Give Up Victory Cigar

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell is in no rush to retire from the Boston Celtics — and "the Gold Standard." Coach Red Auerbach will never give up his victory cigar.

And neither is very worried over New York Coach Harry Gallatin.

Both came close to trading punches with Gallatin during a National Basketball Association game here Sunday. In fact, Auerbach got hit with a $500 fine and Gallatin was docked $100 by league headquarters as a result of the turmoil.

Everyone was much more subdued Monday.

"I have never felt better," said Russell, the 6-foot-10 pillar upon whom the Celtics built their seven world championships. "There was a lot of talk about Red working me too hard. Even my father called me and has asked what it was all about."

"I told him: 'a 20-minute player drives Fords. A 48-minute player drives Lincolns. I like big cars.'"

Hope Classic Attracts 512

90-Hole Marathon Event Will Start Wednesday

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic gets under way Wednesday, a 90-hole marathon played over four golf courses that marks the return to the winter circuit of such popular standouts as Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

It's a complicated event that consumes five days as far as the pro-amateur competition is involved, but the main loot is the winning individual pro score after the 90 holes — $15,000 and an expensive sedan.

There will be 128 teams, which means there will be 128 pros and 384 amateurs, making a grand total of 512 players in action, at least for the first four days.

The low 70 pros go at it alone, or without benefit of the amateurs, in Sunday's final 18.

Just to make it easier for the official scorekeepers, the three amateur teams remain intact for four rounds, but switch pros each day.

Formerly played as the Desert Classic, this one was named after Bob Hope, for years the honorary mayor of Palm Springs. Hope will be among the amateurs.

Back to defend his 1964 title will be Tommy Jacobs, home pro of the host club, Bermuda.

"I'll accept if he meets me at Dunes, who beat out veteran half court," Auerbach said. "I'm too old to carry a grudge."

Allyn Fails in Effort to Block Braves' Atlanta Move

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur C. Allyn, owner of the Chicago League owners' meeting, "but White Sox, failed Monday to get heads of other American League clubs to join him in petitioning White Sox boss said. "But I Commissioner Ford Frick to don't care. I still think I'm bar the Milwaukee Braves' right."

"I thought it was worth going to bat for, but the other owners wouldn't even talk about it," Allyn said.

"I told them the whole story, but I didn't have to speak too long," Allyn said. "They were all acquainted with the Milwaukee situation and there was no use rehearsing all the details. The other American League owners felt it was a National League matter and, in effect, closes in a certain location, you thought we shouldn't tamper."

Allyn said he talked for about 10 minutes at the American League owners' meeting, "but nobody joined me."

"In my usual fashion, I had no company," the out-spoken Sox boss said. "But I leave, you'd do a lot of thinking before you would consider venturing into the same place."

Shirley Ardell Hits 617 'National' Set

First Honor Count at Sabre Lanes; Elaine Krueger Blasts 596 Series

Shirley Ardell put together consistent games of 204, 204 and 209 for a booming 617 national honor count in the Five-Minus-Two League at Sabre Lanes Monday night.

The national set was the sixth of the season on Appleton lanes by women and the first in the history of the new Sabre Lanes.

Shirley carries a 158 average in the league and also participates in the Hahn's Women's League on Thursday night. She had one other national honor count in her career when she topped the 600 mark at the Arcade Lanes a number of years ago.

Right behind Shirley was teammate Elaine Krueger with games of 225 and 193 for a 596 series, just four pins short of a national honor count.

Promise 'Surprise' Indonesian Scientists Reported Working on Nation's First A-Bomb

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The director of Indonesia's army arsenal said today about 200 scientists are working to make the country's first atomic bomb. He promised a "surprise" at the Armed Forces Day celebration in October.

The officer, Brig. Gen. Hartono, also said Indonesia this year will produce guided missiles "whose damaging abilities are superior to those of other countries." His statements were distributed without elaboration by the official Antara News Agency.

Hartono said last November that Indonesia would explode an atomic bomb in 1965 and that it had begun surveying the possibility of producing intercontinental ballistic missiles. His statement last year came shortly after a reported successful launching of Indonesian-made rockets for artillery and infantry use.

Explosive Plant
Antara also carried an announcement that the Indonesian army later this year plans to build plant to produce explosive materials. The agency said it would be located in Java, Sumatra or in the Celebes but gave no details.

Indonesia has an atomic reactor in Bandung, West Java, which was obtained from the United States. Another reactor is now under construction with Soviet aid at Serpong, 44 miles southwest of Jakarta. Both

Woman Sues Film Firm for $1.5 Million

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mrs. Ricky D. E. duPont, socialite widow who says she invested half a million dollars in a film, is suing Afilmo, Inc., for $1.5 million.

Mrs. duPont said in her suit, filed Monday in Superior Court, that she was induced to invest in the film after she was told that hotel operator Sam Ford Fishbein also would invest $500,000 in it.

She said she later learned, after the Afilmo corporation was formed, that Fishbein did not have a million dollars in assets as he allegedly claimed, and that he had not put up the half million for the film.

The suit also names Leo Samuels, an Afilmo executive, alleging that he and Fishbein transferred Mrs. duPont's investment to a second corporation, Zociac Films, with which she had no connection.

All Contracts Must First Be Signed

BY MALCOLM STEPHENSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Top officials of the striking longshoremen's union have declined to comply immediately with President Johnson's request that the men return to work in the ports from Maine to Texas where contract settlements have been reached.

Johnson, who relayed his request through Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, also urged early settlements in the other ports.

The situation in Philadelphia, where negotiations resume today after an overnight recess, has been named as a major factor in charting the union's course.

Meets With Leaders
Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds conferred here Monday with leaders of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association.

Reynolds, with ILA President Thomas W. Gleason at his side, later told newsmen that union officials would make no decision on the White House request until it was certain that ILA locals in Baltimore and Philadelphia had accepted contract terms.

A short time later, word came that ILA members in Baltimore had approved a four-year contract by a vote of 1,879 to 463. The contract is a revision of the one defeated last Wednesday 1,371 to 1,016. Baltimore has 4,500 dock workers.

Best in History
For many years the ILA has not allowed its men to work in any port until locals in all ports reached agreements. Locals in a number of South Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports still have not reached settlements. Pacific Coast longshoremen belong to a different union.

The U.S. Maritime Administration has estimated that the 23-day-old strike of 60,000 ILA members has cost the national economy well over $1 billion. It says the strike has idled 817 ships, including 142 American-flag ships.

More than a week ago, the ILA lifted its picket lines from docks of American-flag passenger ships, and a number of them are sailing.

In addition to Baltimore, the ports where the ILA has reached agreements with the shipping and stevedoring companies include New York, New Orleans, the second busiest; Boston; Norfolk, Va.; Baltimore, the nation's busiest port; New Orleans, the second busiest; Boston; Norfolk, Va.; Baltimore, the nation's busiest port; New Orleans, the second busiest; Boston; Norfolk, Va.; Baltimore, the nation's busiest port.

The stalled negotiations in Galveston involve ports on the western part of the Gulf Coast from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Texas.

The negotiations in Miami, which continue today, involve ports from Morehead City, N.C., around the tip of Florida to Tampa on the state's west coast. Secretary of Labor Wirtz has listed this area and the Galveston area as the "principal holdouts" in the strike.

Students Riot in Dispute Over Language
MADRAS, India (AP) — More than 500 students stopped trains and defaced Hindi signs on a railway station today as demonstrations continued against formal designation of Hindi as India's official language.

House surgeons in Madras government hospitals also protested with a one-day strike.

Tamil, rather than Hindi, is the dominant language in south-eastern India.

Johnson Support Grows Committee Aligns on U. A. R.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations committee has lined up in support of President Johnson's drive to ease a House-voted prohibition against further shipments of surplus farm products to the United Arab Republic.

The committee voted 17 to 6 Monday to relax the House ban by giving the President flexibility to continue the shipments when they are necessary to carry out a 1962 sales agreement and if he determines such exports are "in the national interest."

This so-called "escape hatch" was written into a $1.6-billion emergency agricultural appropriation in a modification of the flat ban voted by the House.

Confidential Reason
Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said the State Department had given senators a "confidential" reason for opposing the House ban. He said "I think that our oil companies are very much disturbed for fear" that UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser "would shut off the use of the Suez Canal or take some other southern Kyushu. Twenty-five steps to make their business in other fishermen were rescued."

Johnson Proposal Economic Bill to Aid Upper Lakes Region

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate majority leader, announced Monday that President Johnson soon will propose a general economic development program for depressed areas, including the Upper Great Lakes region.

Mansfield told the Senate that he met with the President last Friday and was authorized to read a statement from the White House giving assurance that such a program would be launched.

Mansfield quoted President Johnson as saying he did not think the Appalachia bill, passed by the Senate, was a proper vehicle for authorizing additional programs in the Upper Great Lakes and other areas.

Intramilitary Fight Accord Reached After Fire Exchanged in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — long River from Nong Khai, Thailand.

Artillery fire was exchanged 20 miles east of Vientiane today between feuding rightist factions of Laos' national army, but an agreement was later reported reached for a peaceful settlement.

Three soldiers of Gen. Kouprasith Abhay, military governor of Vientiane and deputy chief of staff, were killed in the fight. Three other persons had been killed in a clash Sunday between Kouprasith's troops and soldiers of a group of young officers who staged an abortive uprising with the avowed aim of reforming the army high command.

Airport Abandoned
The Vientiane airport terminal was abandoned by scared officials, but commercial airliners landed unobstructed.

The Laotian dissidents were described by some diplomatic observers as aspects of a nonpolitical intramilitary fight. If rules of strict military discipline were to be observed, the young officers' action was mutiny to oust the high command led by the chief of staff, Gen. Ouane Rathikoun, and Gen. Kouprasith.

The opposing officers were reported to have reached an agreement in late afternoon talk. U.S. officials declined to disclose details.

Various parts of the city were occupied by revolutionaries wearing blue kerchiefs and Kouprasith's troops with orange kerchiefs.

Witnesses said there had been shelling at Tannaleng, on the Mekong River east of Vientiane, and on the road between the capital and the Chaimano barracks, Kouprasith's headquarters.

The reports of military action came 24 hours after loyalist forces suppressed an uprising by a group of junior officers who said they wanted to reform the army's high command.

Rightist troops marched into Vientiane Monday from Chaimano, 10 miles away, and quietly put down the attempted coup. Tannaleng lies across the Mekong River from Nong Khai, Thailand.

Needles Critics After 'Glass' Jaw Survives 12 Bruising Rounds

Patterson Plans to 'Do More Boxing' Against Cassius

BY JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP) — "You called me a China champ... "You questioned my courage... "You said I could not take a punch... "You wrote I had no business in the ring any more..."

These words, spoken slowly and accusingly, dropped like icicles from Floyd Patterson's tight but lightly swollen lips Monday night.

It was perhaps 90 minutes after the finish of one of the most bruising, punishing fights witnessed at old Madison Square Garden in many years — a leather-throwing 12-round war in which the former heavyweight champion slugged out an unanimous decision over crude, cock-of-Gibraltar-chinned George Chuvalo of Toronto.

Floyd, still in the sweat-smelled dressing room, now bare like his glistening body except for his manager, Dan Florio, a couple of handlers and a few lagging newspapermen, directed his remarks at one person but it was obvious they were meant for all his critics.

"Proved You Wrong"
"I proved you all wrong," the two-time champion said, a slight smile softening his tired face. "Now that I showed everybody I can take a punch without going down, I will go back to my way of fighting."

"In my next fight — and I feel it should be for the championship — I'm going to do more boxing. I know I will have to do more boxing if I am to beat Cassius Clay."

Except for an ugly looking irritation on his left side, where Chuvalo inflicted heavy punishment with right hands to the ribs, and that awfully tired look, Patterson showed little evidence of the fierce opposition offered by Chuvalo.

"He hurt me in the stomach and he hurt me on the chin," said Floyd. "But I had trained so well I was able to take it. He hit me hard on several occasions but I knew I could not afford to let myself be knocked down. I knew I could take a punch but I had to prove it to others. That, to me, was the greatest satisfaction of the fight."

Floyd had nothing but praise for his valiant foe who he said "deserved more in defeat than I did in victory."

"Chuvalo was terribly disappointed after the fight," said the 30-year-old Patterson, "but I told him he should be proud of the fight and that I might give him another chance in the future."

Expressed Disappointment
Chuvalo expressed that disappointment — mingled with bitterness — in his dressing room. He even had some complaining words for referee Zach Clayton who made the fight closer than either of the two judges.

"Every time I started to get going, the referee would break it up," he lamented. "He just wouldn't let me fight my fight."

Chuvalo inflicted most of his punishment during the infighting, hooking wicked lefts to Patterson's stomach and chin and slamming roundhouse rights to Floyd's ribs and back.

"That's the way I fight, in side," said the Canadian champion, who had knocked out his last four opponents. "But every time I'd get set to throw a hook inside, the referee would step in."

"I'll fight Patterson again any time — but with a different referee."

Patterson said he felt he deserved a chance at the championship.

"Clay himself told me I earned a shot at his title," said Patterson. "He told me right after the fight — before I left the ring — that I would be his next opponent. I think he forgot all about Sonny Liston."

It was perhaps 90 minutes after the finish of one of the most bruising, punishing fights witnessed at old Madison Square Garden in many years — a leather-throwing 12-round war in which the former heavyweight champion slugged out an unanimous decision over crude, cock-of-Gibraltar-chinned George Chuvalo of Toronto.

Halas, at 70, Can't Wait for Season to Start; Eyes Rookies

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP) — George Halas reached his 70th birthday today with the only new wrinkles being the ones he plans for his Chicago Bears this year.

"I can't wait for the season to get started," said the bright-eyed National Football League pioneer who works a seven-day week, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Halas is enthusiastic about an improvement program for his Bears in 1965. Last season, plagued from start to finish with injuries, they lost nine games —

Andros Picked Head Coach at Oregon State

Former Idaho Mentor Selects Three Assistants

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — The first day as Oregon State head football coach was a busy one for Dee Andros of Idaho, who was named Monday to replace Tommy Prothro.

Andros named three assistant coaches and met with the Oregon State football squad. He also announced that the assistants would begin recruiting immediately.

The 40-year-old coach said two Idaho aides John Easternbrook and Ed Riley, would join him at Corvallis, along with Ed Knecht, coach of the state champion Boise High School team. Three other assistants are to be named.

Meet to Decide
Riley said at Moscow that he would meet with Andros later this week to decide if he would make the move.

Andros' first comment to the players was, "This is the greatest day of my life." He went on to describe his views on football and outlined some plans.

Tom Hamilton Tipton Named To Fame Hall

7 Players and A Coach Cited By Foundation

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP) — Seven players and a coach are the newest members of the National Football Hall of Fame.

The new Hall of Famers, whose selection was announced Monday by Chet LaRoche, president of the National Football Foundation, are Jack Cannon, Notre Dame guard 1927-29;

Merle Gulick, Toledo and Hobart quarterback, 1925-28; Thomas J. Hamilton, Navy back, 1923-25; Dr. George (Tank) McLaren, Pittsburgh fullback, 1915-17.

Played for Snively
Also, Eric (The Red) Tipton, Duke back, 1936-1938; James (Froggy) Williams, Rice end, 1949-51; Dr. Jerome (Brud) Holland, Cornell end, 1936-38; and Carl Snively, coach at North Carolina, Bucknell and Cornell 1926-52.

Holland was a two-time All-America selection playing under Snively at Cornell in 1937 and 1938. He is now president of Hampton Institute in Virginia.

Snively, who started his 26-year coaching career at Bucknell before moving on to North Carolina in 1934 and to Cornell in 1937, retired in 1952, eight years after returning to coach North Carolina. Now in business in St. Louis, he had a 147-77-16 record as a coach and was one of the first to use movies in developing his teams.

Cannon, now a florist in Columbus, Ohio, was an All-American selection in 1929.

Hamilton, a retired admiral, is commissioner of the Athletic Association of Western Universities. Tipton coaches baseball and 150-pound football at the U.S. Military Academy.

McLaren, a dentist, coached at Kansas State, Cincinnati and Wyoming before retiring. Williams is a Houston sales executive and Gulick is vice president of an insurance company in New York.

Ken Bodway was high for the second KRA with a 798 score and game before McCrary's service others included Don Bodway, rang up seven straight points 794; Jerry Johnson, 774 and With the score 17-15, Kitchen Alan Horn, 752.

Dane Mathews Ineligible for Marquette '5'

McGuire Calls Loss Of Guard Blow to 'Scrambled Egg' Unit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Marquette basketball team's "scrambled egg" unit lost a member Monday when sophomore guard Dane Mathews was declared scholastically ineligible for second semester play.

Edward J. Popke
525 E. Wallace St., New London
Passed away Jan. 22 after a short illness not a long illness as stated in his obituary.

Mrs. George Pomrening
Rt. 3, New London
Age 75, passed away early Monday morning after a lingering illness. She was born Sept. 23, 1889 in Weyauwega. Mrs. Pomrening is survived by her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Luther Heideman, Clintonville; one sister, Mrs. John Kostzak, Manawa; 4 grandchildren. Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Cline and Hanson Funeral Home, New London, with interment in the Floral Hill Cemetery. Rev. Frederick Heideman will officiate. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Tuesday until time of services.

Mrs. William G. Schultz
Brillion, Wis., Rt. 2
Age 67, passed away after a lingering illness Sunday evening. She was born May 22, 1897 in the Town of Brillion and married William Schultz May 19, 1928 in Brillion. Mrs. Schultz is survived by her husband; four daughters, Miss Lorraine Schultz, Hilbert, Miss Elsie Schultz, Brillion, Mrs. Jack (Lois) DeBruin, Kaukauna, Mrs. Donald (Doris) Ruppier, Rt. 3, cause we have seven or eight boys who are of about equal ability."

The "scrambled egg" unit, actually a second team, has caught the fancy of Marquette fans as the Warriors have won four of their last five games and boosted their record to 7-8. Sent into action twice during the 78-50 upset of St. John's of New York last Saturday, the "eggs" outscored the Redmen 8-1 and then 8-6.

McGuire said that he hit upon the idea of a second unit "because we have seven or eight boys who are of about equal ability."

"The primary purpose of the 'scramblers' is not to win the games," McGuire said. "It's to give the regulars a rest and change the tempo of things."

How come the name "scrambled eggs"? "Well, in many of our pre-game meals the varsity serves eat scrambled eggs instead of steaks like the regulars because they have to play a preliminary game," McGuire explained.

John H. Wold

Mikita Nears Lead in NHL Scoring Race

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Hull, scoreless in his last five games, has a scooter churning up the road behind him in the National Hockey League scoring race.

NHL statistics, released today, show that Chicago's Stan Mikita, center of the Hawks' Scooter Line, has narrowed teammate Hull's scoring lead to eight points. Mikita, scoring champion last year, has 56 points to 64 for his high-scoring teammate.

Hull, soaring at a goal-a-game clip early in the season, had only one assist in Chicago's four games last week while Mikita picked up four. Bobby, with 37 goals, still needs 14 in his last 23 games to break the one-season record of 50 that he shares with Bernie Geoffrion and Maurice Richard.

Montreal, with Gump Worsley replacing regular goalie Charley Hodge, continues to lead the Vezina Trophy battle. The Canadiens have allowed 108 goals in 45 games. But Toronto's Terry Sawchuk and Johnny Bower sport a better average with 111 in 48 games.

McLaren, a dentist, coached at Kansas State, Cincinnati and Wyoming before retiring. Williams is a Houston sales executive and Gulick is vice president of an insurance company in New York.

Promise 'Surprise' Indonesian Scientists Reported Working on Nation's First A-Bomb

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Reactors were said to be for peaceful purposes. The director of Indonesia's army arsenal said today about 200 scientists are working to make the country's first atomic bomb. He promised a "surprise" at the Armed Forces Day celebration in October.

The officer, Brig Gen. Hartono, also said Indonesia this year will produce guided missiles "whose damaging abilities are superior to those of other countries." His statements were distributed without elaboration by the official Antara News Agency.

Hartono said last November that Indonesia would explode an atomic bomb in 1965 and that it had begun surveying the possibility of producing intercontinental ballistic missiles. His statement last year came shortly after a reported successful launching of Indonesian-made rockets for artillery and infantry use.

Explosive Plant

Antara also carried an announcement that the Indonesian army later this year plans to build plant to produce explosive materials. The agency said it would be located in Java, Sumatra or in the Celebes but gave no details.

Indonesia has an atomic reactor in Bandung, West Java, which was obtained from the United States. Another reactor is now under construction with Soviet aid at Serpong, 44 miles southwest of Jakarta. Both

Rule Indigents Are Entitled to Free Counsel

Madison Circuit Judge Hands Down Reversal Decision

MADISON (AP) — Circuit Judge Edwin M. Wilkie ruled in a precedent setting decision Monday night that indigent persons accused of serious crimes in Wisconsin are entitled to publicly paid counsel prior to a preliminary court hearing.

Judge Wilkie ruled that Dane County Judge William L. Buehler had deprived Richard W. Holliday, 32, of counsel. The decision restrained Judge Buehler from proceeding in the case until Holliday is provided counsel.

Holliday is held in $36,000 bail on charges of armed robbery of a Madison motel, the abduction of a couple and theft of a car last Nov. 22. He is from Milwaukee.

Woman Sues Film Firm for $1.5 Million

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mrs. Ricky D. E. duPont, socialite widow who says she invested half a million dollars in a film, is suing Afilmo, Inc., for $1.5 million.

Mrs. duPont said in her suit, filed Monday in Superior Court, that she was induced to invest in the film after she was told that hotel operator Sam Ford Fishbein also would invest $500,000 in it.

She said she later learned, after the Afilmo corporation was formed, that Fishbein did not have a million dollars in assets as he allegedly claimed, and that he had not put up the half million for the film.

The suit also names Leo Samuels, an Afilmo executive, alleging that he and Fishbein transferred Mrs. duPont's investment to a second corporation, Zociac Films, with which she had no connection.

All Contracts Must First Be Signed

BY MALCOLM STEPHENSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Top officials of the striking longshoremen's union have declined to comply immediately with President Johnson's request that the men return to work in the ports from Maine to Texas where contract settlements have been reached.

Johnson, who relayed his request through Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, also urged early settlements in the other ports.

The situation in Philadelphia, where negotiations resume today after an overnight recess, has been named as a major factor in charting the union's course.

Meets With Leaders

Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds conferred here Monday with leaders of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association.

Reynolds, with ILA President Thomas W. Gleason at his side, later told newsmen that union officials would make no decision on the White House request until it was certain that ILA locals in Baltimore and Philadelphia had accepted contract terms.

A short time later, word came that ILA members in Baltimore had approved a four-year contract by a vote of 1,879 to 468. The contract is a revision of the one defeated last Wednesday 1,371 to 1,016. Baltimore has 4,500 dock workers.

Best in History

For many years the ILA has not allowed its men to work in any port until locals in all ports reached agreements. Locals in a number of South Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports still have not reached settlements. Pacific Coast longshoremen belong to a different union.

The U.S. Maritime Administration has estimated that the 23-day-old strike of 60,000 ILA members has cost the national economy well over $1 billion. It says the strike has idled 617 on charges of armed robbery of flag ships.

More than a week ago, the ILA lifted its picket lines from docks of American-flag passenger ships, and a number of them are sailing.

In addition to Baltimore, the ports where the ILA has reached agreements with the shipping and stevedoring companies include New York, normally the nation's busiest port, New Orleans, the second busiest, Boston; Norfolk, Va.; Baton Rouge, La.; and Mobile, Ala.

The agreement generally follow the pattern of the contract approved by the 24,000 longshoremen in New York Jan. 11. Gleason and other ILA officials called the New York agreement the best in the union's history.

In addition to Philadelphia, the major unsettled areas are Galveston, Tex.; Miami, Fla.; and Hampton Roads, Va.

The stalled negotiations in Galveston involve ports on the western part of the Gulf Coast from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex.

The negotiations in Miami, which continue today, involve ports from Morehead City, N.C., around the tip of Florida to Tampa on the state's west coast. Secretary of Labor Wirtz has listed this area and the Galveston area as the "principal holdouts" in the strike.

Students Riot in Dispute Over Language

MADRAS, India (AP) — More than 500 students stopped trains and defaced Hindi signs on a railway station today as demonstrations continued against formal designation of Hindi as India's official language.

House surgeons in Madras government hospitals also protested with a one-day strike.

Tamil, rather than Hindi, is the dominant language in southeastern India.

Johnson Support Grows

Committee Aligns on U. A. R.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations committee has lined up in support of President Johnson's drive to ease a House-voted prohibition against further shipments of surplus farm products to the United Arab Republic.

The committee voted 17 to 6 Monday to relax the House ban by giving the President flexibility to continue the shipments when they are necessary to carry out a 1962 sales agreement and if he determines such exports are "in the national interest."

This so-called "escape hatch" was written into a $1.6-billion emergency agricultural appropriation in a modification of the flat ban voted by the House.

Confidential Reason

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said the State Department had given senators a "confidential" reason for opposing the House ban. He said "I think that our oil companies are very much disturbed for fear" that UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser would shut off the use of the Suez Canal or take some other southern Kyushu. Twenty-five steps to make their business in other fishermen were rescued.

Johnson Proposal

Economic Bill to Aid Upper Lakes Region

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate majority leader, announced Monday that President Johnson soon will propose a general economic development program for depressed areas, including the Upper Great Lakes region.

Mansfield told the Senate that he met with the President last Friday and was authorized to read a statement from the White House giving assurance that such a program would be launched.

Mansfield quoted President Johnson as saying he did not think the Appalachia bill, passed by the Senate, was a proper vehicle for authorizing additional programs in the Upper Great Lakes and other areas.

Asked by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., when the new program could be expected, Mansfield replied:

"They are working on legislation at this very minute. I anticipate a bill will be forthcoming before too many weeks have passed."

Earlier, Nelson told the Senate "the Upper Great Lakes region of Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota has an unemployment rate 20 per cent higher than Appalachia."

"Families with less than $3,000 a year annual income make up 25.9 per cent of the population of the region as compared with 21.4 per cent of the nation," Nelson added.

The Wisconsin senator said that the Upper Great Lakes region, once rich in timber and minerals, has "stagnated," but "its people are ready to act to move forward."

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Witnesses said shelling broke out today in Tannaleng, on the Mekong River east of Vientiane, and on the road between the capital and the Chainamo barracks, headquarters of rightist Gen. Kouprasith Abhay.

The reports of military action came 24 hours after loyalist forces suppressed an uprising by a group of junior officers who said they wanted to reform the army's high command.

Rightist troops marched into Vientiane Monday from Chainamo, 10 miles away, and quietly put down the attempted coup. Tannaleng lies across the Mekong River from Nong Khai, Thailand.

Shelled Supporter

Troops at Tannaleng were said to be under the command of Gen. Kham Kong, reported to be a staunch supporter of the right-wing Deputy Premier Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. The witnesses said they were led by an energetic young colonel, Yap Keo.

Tension had grown with the refusal of the dissident junior officers to remove their soldiers — a total of three companies — from the capital.

American diplomats and American and British military attaches had assisted in negotiations aimed at preventing a clash.

Col. Bounleut Sycosie, leader of the rebel officers, said in an interview that he had been ready to pull back but that soldiers of Gen. Kouprasith Abhay moved into town "to pressure us." When the pressure is taken off, Bounleut said, he will withdraw.

Camped in Stadium

Bounleut and his soldiers were camped at Vientiane Stadium, waiting for Kouprasith's men to leave the nearby Ministry of Defense.

The family tiff within the rightist-neutralist forces fighting as allies against the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, the third faction of this unstable jungle kingdom, was on the surface a squabble between the blue and the yellows.

The only visible difference between the forces were the blue kerchiefs worn by the re-

Five Injured in 2-Car Mishap At Clintonville

Autos Driven by Nathan Wiese, Mrs. Roger Wilson

CLINTONVILLE — Five persons were injured in a two-car accident at the intersection of Grove and N. Clinton Avenues at 8:45 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. Roger Wilson, 28, 195 Walnut St., Clintonville, one of the drivers, suffered a broken collar bone. Her son, a passenger in the car, was not injured.

Passengers injured in the second car, driven by Nathan E. Wiese, 48, 47 Torrey St., Clintonville, were Debra Wiese, 9, bruises; Dennis Glocke, 10, left eye injured, bruises and cuts, and Kathy Kenfield, 9, bump on the head. Other passengers, David McCarthy, 5, and Ann McCarthy, 10, were not injured.

Mrs. Wilson was taken to the Clintonville Community Hospital for treatment. The children were treated at a doctor's office.

Clintonville Police said that Wiese was traveling north on N. Clinton Avenue and Mrs. Wilson was going east on Grove Avenue.

The entire left side, hood and radiator of Wiese's 1963 station wagon were damaged which was estimated at $400. Damages to the right front wheel and fender of the Wilson car were estimated at $100.

New London Students Plan AFS Appeal

NEW LONDON — The Washington High School Student Council has announced two plans for raising funds for the local chapter of the American Field Service.

The high school will conduct a candy sale Feb. 8. Robert Witzak, student council advisor, said proceeds from the candy sale would be used to cover bus fees, field trip costs and other incidental costs incurred by the exchange student.

A student-faculty game is scheduled for Feb. 13. Witzak said proceeds from the game would go into the student council fund set aside for AFS purposes.

The student council called a meeting this fall with the hopes of organizing the AFS Chapter in order to have a foreign exchange student attend the high school next fall.

Lions Light Bulb Sale

NEW LONDON — Publicity chairman Charles G. Egli said the New London Lions Club would be conducting a light bulb sale in mid-February. Egli said preliminary plans are for a house-to-house canvass of the city.

Waupaca Police Made 337 Arrests in '64, Report Shows

WAUPACA — In 1964 the Waupaca City police department made 337 arrests in addition to performing other duties of the department, according to an annual report prepared by Police Chief Fred Rasmussen.

At a recent meeting of the police and fire commission, Rasmussen reported that the department again is at full strength with a chief, one sergeant, five patrolmen, a police and fire radio operator, and a matron. Rasmussen said if Waupaca doesn't experience significant growth in the future, there will not be a need for additional policemen since the city can be properly policed with the present force. Members of the department spent a total of 8,528 hours on foot, car and motorcycle patrol during the year. In other general activities, 4,871 telephone calls were handled and 76 escorts provided during the year. Of these, 24 were for hospitals, 21 funerals, 19 for banks and five others.

Criminal Complaints — The department spent 102 hours working with other departments; 5,008 radio messages were taken during the year; 94 fire calls were taken through the police department; 162 accidents were investigated; 5,100 parking tickets were issued; 475 bicycle licenses were sold; eight criminal complaints and 36 general complaints were received.

Of these, four criminal complaints and 36 general complaints were cleared. The car and motorcycle were 30 two were released. At present 12 juvenile cases are pending. Each man of the department is required to attend at least 40 hours of police training each year. Rasmussen told the commission. Last year, he said he attended a total of 64 hours of school. Sgt. Donald Fabricius, 60 hours; Patrolman Paul Grunwald, 44 hours; Patrolman Allen Pope, 44 hours; Patrolman William Carlson, 68 hours and Patrolman Wayne Schroeder attended 120 hours. Schroeder's training consisted of two weeks at state police school studying accident investigation.

Changes — The arrest report includes six, driving while under the influence of intoxicants; 105, speeding; seven, illegal turns; four, liquor law violations; 30, disorderly conduct; eight, driving too fast for conditions; three, permitting an unauthorized person to operate a car; 16, not having a driver's license; three, having beer in a car with minors; 68, miscellaneous; 13, pending; 13, juvenile. Five were dismissed.

William Carlson, the department Juvenile office, reports that 101 juveniles were handled during the year. Of these 28 were for burglary; two for auto year; 12 for larceny-theft; eight for disorderly conduct; 13 for traffic violations; 18 for drinking; 18 for vandalism and one each for truancy and uncontrolled.

In the disposition of the juveniles, 15 were warned and released; 16 are under police supervision; 26 under the supervision of the probation officer; 30 were referred to court and

Outagamie County Plans To Press for Airline Service

Proxmire Asks CAB Review

Special to The Post-Crescent

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A U.S. Senate review of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) decision to cut airline service to about 100 U.S. communities was called for Monday by Wisconsin Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.)

In a resolution, co-sponsored by 10 other senators, Proxmire called for a thorough review of the "national needs for local airline service."

The resolution asks that airline service be maintained to the threatened points until the inquiry is completed. The review would be conducted by the senate commerce committee.

Affected by the CAB's program of cutting local airline service by encouraging regional airport development are several Wisconsin communities, including the Fox Valley.

November Order — Last November the CAB ordered that Appleton airline service be merged with Oshkosh service at the Winnebago County Airport and that Clintonville service be combined with Green Bay service at Austin Straubel Field in Green Bay. The Jan. 25 effective date of the order has been set back until the U.S. Court of Appeals disposes of several appeals on the ruling.

Speaking on the Senate floor in support of the resolution, Proxmire pointed out that in one Wisconsin city, the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) and the city spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to construct an airport for use by a feeder airline. "Within a year," Proxmire said, "the CAB had authorized the feeder line to discontinue service."

"How often is this happening elsewhere?" Proxmire asked. "When two arms of the federal government are working at such cross-purposes," he said, "and creating such extravagant waste, the need for review is apparent."

"These 100 communities, and the federal government itself, have spent millions of dollars to provide adequate airport facilities with the implied promise, both from the airlines and the federal government, that they would receive adequate airline service."

"The expenditures made by local communities," Proxmire said, "in these cases were made not as a matter of civic pride, but in recognition of the fact that cities with good transport facilities are at a great advantage in gaining and holding business and industries. Those without it are at a great disadvantage."

80 Cases Heard — Justice Whalen heard 80 cases in January. Eight persons were bound over to County Court for trial and six cases are still pending. Seventeen of the cases the city had with Hiram L. Krebs, an engineer from Stevens Point, expired Dec. 31.

Krebs was retained three years ago to bring all city maps up to date and also other city engineering work. Krebs has presented one proposal and a Waupaca firm also has submitted an offer for its services.

Resolution Prepared for Next County Board Session To Nudge North Central

Machinery was set in motion Monday by the Outagamie County Board's airport committee to attempt to either force North Central Airlines to provide service at the county's new airport or to get the airline to make the move voluntarily.

At the same time, acting on a request by the airport committee, Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath contacted Gerald P. O'Grady, the county's Washington airport matters counsel, and instructed O'Grady to get a ruling from the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) on what constitutes the "status quo."

The committee will submit a resolution to the county board at next week Tuesday's meeting which asks for "authority to take all steps necessary to secure the voluntary transfer of commercial air service by North Central Airlines from the old airport to the new airport in the Town of Greenville at the earliest feasible date."

Close Old Port — The resolution also would authorize the committee to close the old airport and transfer operations to the new airport, and, "if necessary, to take all legal steps necessary to force North Central to serve Outagamie County at the new airport."

The proposed resolution also provides that the new airport "should be designated the Outagamie County Airport as soon as operations are transferred."

The resolution was proposed by Supv. Mark Catlin (Appleton), airport committee chairman.

Catlin said, "I expect that by next week Tuesday we will have the final word on whether or not North Central will move. After we have that information, we can move to the new airport within 10 days."

A North Central vice president, Bernard Sweet, notified the Post-Crescent Friday that the airline does not intend to transfer its terminal facilities to the new airport because the movement would be in violation of CAB orders for a "maintenance of the status quo" until the United States Court of Appeals said they are unwilling to move to the new airport that we are willing to assume their costs of moving to the new airport."

Writes Airline — Ponath has written to North Central and requested an itemized accounting of what the cost of the transfer would be. Catlin explained the reason O'Grady is requesting a CAB ruling on what "status quo" means is to determine whether a voluntary North Central movement would be in violation of the order.

Howard Feldman, a CAB counsel, told the Post-Crescent 10 days ago that service could be transferred to the new airport provided North Central made the move "voluntarily."

He said if Outagamie closed the old airport and tried to force North Central to make the move, the airline could petition the CAB for permission to suspend service to Outagamie County and begin service to the Fox Cities at the Winnebago County Airport at Oshkosh.

Waupaca Comet Rink Wins Wausau Bonspiel

WAUPACA — For the first time in Waupaca High School curling history a rink representing the school won a first event in a bonspiel. A rink skipped by Rex Pope, won the Wausau Invitational Bonspiel and took the Alan Wirt Memorial Trophy for winning five straight games, Friday and Saturday.

Pope's rink consisted of Craig Taylor as vice-skip, Al Pennebecker as second and Rick Johnson as lead. They downed Reif of Medford 10-5 for their first win Friday morning. Heggland of Port Edwards was defeated Friday afternoon by a 10-8 count. It reversed a Mid-Wisconsin League match last December when Heggland beat the Comets at Port Edwards.

Saved The Day
Friday evening the Waupaca rink was saved when a perfect shot by Rex Pope in the last end with the last stone led to a 8-7 victory. Van Epps of Portage was defeated 9-2 on Saturday morning and Braubenhauer of Trempealeau fell by a 12-2 score in the finals later in the day.

Another rink skipped by Lon Sherman with Don Dorshner as vice-skip Jeff Nelson at second and John Hart at lead, lost their first game to LaCerte of Wausau.

Coach LeRoy Haberkorn's squad will now compete in the Madison Invitational Bonspiel which will be held Feb. 19-20. The sectional will be held at Waupaca on Feb. 27.

Share Prices In Decline

Favored Issues Rise Less Than Point in Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices eased as trading was moderate early this afternoon.

The decline was irregular, with a minority of favored issues rising from fractions to about a point.

After seven straight daily gains by the Dow Jones industrial average, Wall Street analysts saw stocks as heading for a period of rest and correction.

There was no particular eagerness to unload.

General Motors sank as much as 1 1/4 as traders expressed disappointment that directors Monday proposed no stock split although they did raise the dividend.

The stock declined to 100, then recovered partially to show a net loss of about a point.

Rails, electrical equipments, tobacco, coppers and utilities were mostly lower. An irregular pattern prevailed among most stock groups.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 4 at 336.7 with industrials off 5, rails off 3 and utilities off 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 1 1/2 at 902.33.

Other auto stocks did very little. Ford eased. Chrysler lost a fraction. American Motors and Studebaker were unchanged.

Steels were unchanged to a shade higher.

Among wider-moving issues, Xerox fell 2 and IBM (ex dividend) 1.

Losses of around a point were taken by Du Pont and International Harvester.

Johns Manville, up fractionally, continued in demand.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds edged upward.

$100 Damage In New London Auto Mishaps

NEW LONDON — A three-car accident Sunday at Wolf River Avenue and S. Pearl Street resulted in over $100 damage to the vehicles involved.

Involved were cars driven by Carol M. Robman 24, 713 Waupaca St., New London, Alan L. Duch 18, route 2, New London, and Larry E. Guerin, 19, 616 Broad St., New London.

City police said all the vehicles were traveling south on Pearl Street, when an oncoming car made a left turn off Pearl Street in front of the three automobiles, setting off the chain reaction accident.

An 8:15 p.m. accident Saturday at Mill and Bruce streets, resulted in over $100 damage.

City police said vehicles driven by David O. Handschke 17, route 2, New London and Edna Huntley, 51 507 Bruce St. both were headed south on Mill Street. The Huntley vehicle was in the process of making a left turn onto Bruce when it collided with the Handschke car which was attempting to pass the Huntley car. Police said.

Soo Line Reports 1964 Best Year Since Merger

Net income for the Soo Line Railroad Co. in 1964 was the highest since the company was formed through merger four years ago, according to Leonard H. Murray, president.

The railroad's 1964 net income was $4,355,369, or $3.44 per share. In 1963, the Soo's net income was $4,096.34 or $3.24 per share.

Murray said the company's profits have increased in each of the four years since the merger. The company's net income in 1964 was 6.3 per cent greater than that for 1963.

The Soo had total revenues in 1964 of $81,894,451, compared to $80,563,650 for 1963.

Wisconsin Planners To Hear Talk on 1964 Opportunity Act

Raymond C. Gladieux executive secretary of the Social Development Commission of Greater Milwaukee, will speak on the "Economic Opportunity Act of 1964" at the Association of Wisconsin Planners dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Steak Ranch, 625 N. Fourth St., Milwaukee.

Ernest L. Brandt of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission and program chairman for the event said Gladieux will discuss the federal act in relationship to Milwaukee and the possible application of the act in other areas of the state.

Sues For $8,000

Giffen had sued for $8,000 in addition to his disbursements. He filed the appeal, also asking interest on the unpaid amount. The trial court awarded the interest claim on the reduced fee and the company appealed from the interest assessment.

The case involved a 1956 dispute about the computation of lumber company inventories for tax purposes during the period from 1949 to 1954.

The government claimed a deficiency of $30,551. The dispute was settled by the Internal Revenue Service for the payment of $5,814 after a series of conferences.

Rep. Davis to Speak At Lincoln Day Dinner

Dr. David Grunwaldt, Kaukauna, Chairman For Outagamie County Event Feb. 12

Glenn R. Davis, Waukesha, elected last November to the ninth Congressional District, will speak at the annual Republican Lincoln Day dinner, to be sponsored by the Outagamie County YGOP, Friday, Feb. 12, at the Conway Motor Inn. The announcement was made today.

Rep. G. R. Davis

by Dr. David Grunwaldt, Kaukauna, dinner chairman.

Rep. Davis, who was born on a farm in Waukesha County in 1914, attended a one-room rural school, and graduated from Mukwonago High School and from Plattville State Teachers College (now University of Wisconsin-Platteville). After teaching in secondary schools for four years, Davis returned to school, earning his law degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1940. That year, he was elected to the Wisconsin State Assembly from the First District of Waukesha County. Davis served on active duty as a U. S. Naval Reserve officer from 1942 to 1945, and was first elected to the 80th Congress in a special election in 1947. He was re-elected for four succeeding terms.

A practicing attorney in Waukesha since 1957, Davis was representative from Wisconsin's 89th Congress from the newly created ninth District. He is now commencing his seventh year on the House Committee on Appropriations after prior service on the Veterans Affairs Committee.

Ticket chairman for the Lincoln Day dinner is John Lorenz, 1917 N. Division St.

Appleton Man Gains Release From Prison

High Court Rules Conviction Illegal In Outagamie Court

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin State Supreme Court today ordered the release from state prison of Elmer Barth of Appleton after ruling that he was illegally convicted last August on a homosexual charge in the Outagamie County court of Judge Gustave J. Keller.

In an opinion written by Justice Myron Gordon, the court held that Barth's unsubstantiated confession of the crime was not sufficient to sustain a conviction.

He was convicted without a jury after a plea of guilty and was sentenced to an indeterminate term of not more than two years in the state penitentiary at Waupun.

Not Corroborated The court called his confession "extra-judicial" and said it has not been corroborated. The state conceded that an unsubstantiated confession is inadequate for conviction but argued that the confession has been sufficiently verified.

Barth was questioned by Appleton police last July 4 upon the complaint of a neighbor. The confession was not related to the complaint being investigated by the police at the time, according to the court's opinion. Justice Gordon also ruled for the court that the state is not entitled to try Barth again. The court said the warden of the prison should return him to the Outagamie County sheriff for the completion of his release.

Lions Consider Plans For Branch Eye Bank

Official of State Organization Outlines Procedure, Equipment for Substation

The requirements for establishing a substation of the Wisconsin Lions Eye Bank were outlined to the Appleton Lions Club Monday noon by David W. Herb, Menomonee Falls, secretary-treasurer of the eye bank.

The Appleton club has been considering the possibility of establishing a branch eye bank or substation in Appleton. The requirements are not difficult and the program is not costly, Herb said as he encouraged the club to proceed with plans.

The name "bank" is somewhat of a misnomer as far as eyes are concerned, Herb explained. It is not the same as a blood bank in which blood can be stored and used later, because eyes must be used immediately for corneal transplants, he said. Those not used for transplants are preserved and used for research. The Wisconsin Lions Foundation took over sponsorship of the former Milwaukee Eye Bank Jan. 1, 1964, Herb said. He is one of four Wisconsin Lions members serving on the eye bank committee with four ophthalmologists (eye specialists) associated with Marquette University.

54 Transplants During the first year of the eye bank's operation by the Lions, 84 eyes were removed from donors, 54 were used for transplants and the balance were used for research.

Railroad Seeks Track Building OK

The Chicago and North Western Railway Co. is requesting permission from the City of Appleton to construct two additional tracks across Perkins Street between Charles and Leonard streets.

L. G. Tieman, Green Bay, made the request in a letter to the city clerk today. Tieman is division engineer for the railroad.

The railroad is proposing additional tracks in an established crossing, according to Tieman. He said a hearing before the Wisconsin Public Service Commission is not necessary.

"A resolution or an ordinance on the part of the city is normally required," Tieman wrote.

The tracks are to be parallel to and northerly from the present passing track on Perkins Street.

High Court Rules Legislature Sole Judge of Its Membership

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court ruled today that the state Legislature is the sole and proper judge of its membership.

The unanimous decision held Russell Olson, a Republican from Bassett, had been legally installed as a member of the 1963 State Assembly and ruled invalid the claim of Earl H. Elfers, a Democrat from Trevor.

The Board of Canvassers declared Elfers the 1962 election winner of Kenosha County's 2nd District Assembly race. The board set Elfers' margin at 13 votes.

The Elections Committee of the Republican controlled Assembly did its own recount of the 19,460 ballots involved and three months after the election awarded the Assembly seat to Olson on the strength of a single vote.

Elfers appealed and last May, County Judge John C. Ahlgrimm ruled that Olson had "unpurged the office" and that Elfers should be reinstated.

The Supreme Court decision, written by Justice Horace Wilkie, reversed Ahlgrimm.

Legislative Decision "Under our system of government this is one decision which the Constitution leaves to the Legislature alone to make," said Wilkie.

"We do not endorse the Assembly verdict, neither do we reject it. Under the circumstances this decision, simply, is none of our business."

Wilkie said that if the voters of the district did not approve the decision of the Assembly, their recourse is at the polls.

Elfers defeated Olson in a Nov. 3 election by 1,077 votes. The cost of the disputed Assembly election is now holds the disputed vehicle is not to exceed $2,100.

The vehicle, which also will be used while serving parking for back pay and allowances for Chief Fred Rasmussen.

A payment of $2,500 on the parking lot located at the corner of Washington and W. Fulton Streets was approved.

Dangerous Political Rivalry

If there is any single factor that can assure the defeat of the hopes for the authorization of a four year university-level educational institution to serve North-eastern Wisconsin, it is partisan bickering among the politicians about the subject.

Such a hazard is now in plain view. Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's heckling of Gov. Knowles on the question is one example. The failure of the area's representatives in the legislature to collaborate as a group in the sponsoring of enabling legislation is another. Standing together those men would have a formidable influence in Madison. But they are maneuvering for position with separate propositions, almost as if these were petty personal bills rather than measures involving significant departures in state policy and issues of enormous concern to hundreds of thousands of persons in this Valley without regard to the political behavior of their districts or the counties in which they live.

We welcome Mr. Lucey's interest in our post-high school needs. But he could be more helpful by keeping silent altogether when he turns up in this area for a political speech—if his endorsement of the Valley school comes with a price of attacking in a partisan way Republican Gov. Knowles.

We have been disappointed over Mr.

Knowles' seeming reluctance about the Valley university proposition.

But we cannot deny, nevertheless, that he owes to his position, his oath of office, and his responsibility to all of the people of the state a thorough review of the question which reached him only upon his installation a little more than a month ago. Surely we would not admire him if he negligently endorsed a proposition of similar dimensions and importance in another section of the state.

Mr. Lucey says that Mr. Knowles has called the proposal a "dream."

He did not, and the record with which the lieutenant governor should be more familiar proves that he did not. Mr. Knowles spoke with some exasperation a few weeks ago about some of the many other costly proposals for education expansion in the state, contrasting them with the obviously difficult budget problem which confronts him. Mr. Lucey has no direct concern in these matters. He holds an office in which he does not vote, save under exceptional circumstances.

The Valley university proposal will be resolved on its merits. The merits are persuasive. The merits will be obscured and blurred, however, if the issue is distorted and exploited as a petty quarrel between party politicians for publicity and regional political gain.

The Churchill Funeral

The television networks in their coverage of the Churchill funeral demonstrated that they can occasionally realize the great potential of that media for public education. It was a beautiful production and was even more remarkable for the distances involved.

The use which was made of three passes of the Telstar satellite gives a vision of future international television when more such retransmission stations become available.

For most Americans the high point undoubtedly came when the international congregation in St. Paul's Cathedral burst out full voice in Battle Hymn of the Republic. The tribute which Sir Winston re-

The New Attorney General

Other presidents have broken with the tradition of political patronage in cabinet appointments, particularly in recent decades as the importance and authority of the executive department has grown. But President Johnson's appointment of Nicolas Katzenbach is still a noteworthy one since the new Attorney General has had some extensive experience in the office and the field.

Katzenbach was a scholar who began the study of law as a German prisoner of war during World War II — after two earlier escapes from Italian captors. He resumed his studies after the war, won a Rhodes scholarship and graduated from law school. As a deputy attorney general

Tower of Babel

Republic Day in India, this year commemorating the 15th anniversary of independence, also was the target date for a change in the official language of the country. English has given way to Hindi but opposition to the change appears to be growing.

Hindi is not to be confused with Hindu, the religion of the majority of Indians. There are millions of Indians, including a lot of Hindus, who do not speak or understand Hindi and some who insist they never shall. There are 14 major languages in the country and the astounding number of 831 dialects. Obviously there is a great need for an official language that officials at least can use as a second tongue.

But Hindi is the mother tongue of only four states and about half the population. India is a vast country of many peoples and some of the languages do not resemble each other anymore than Cherokee and German. Some are close variations but some even have different symbols. Until last week the official language, English, while imported by the colonial masters, had been learned by the educated. It may have been a sign of discrimination in itself but at least it was a universal sign in India.

Opposition to the change to Hindi has been growing in non-Hindi states. There have been demonstrations charging "Hindi imperialism." In West Bengal, license plates were ordered removed on the grounds that they could not be read by the Bengali speaking police. When English translations do not accompany Hindi documents, they are untranslatable in many areas.

More than $2 million has been allocated by the government to translate documents from English to Hindi and to work out official terminology in a language which lacks many modern terms. Premier Shastri, unlike many of his countrymen, does not get excited about things. "There will have to be some waste of time," he acknowledged mildly while upholding the change.

Despite some wide differences of pronunciation in the United States, there has never really been a language barrier. But the artificial attempt to create unity through language doesn't always succeed. The Republic of Ireland made itself look ridiculous by insisting that Erse was its national language but its officials had the good sense to have signs printed in English as well as the Gaelic variation. The Indian language problem is clearly an internal matter. But there may be more solidarity achieved by retaining English as an official language. At least then all could be united in grumbling opposition. When Hindi is used, it singles one group out for preference.

Russia's Underground Nuclear Test Fouled the Atmosphere

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

Alarming new information gathered by the Joint Air Force-Atomic Energy Commission airborne detection team has cast a mysterious cloud over Russia's "underground" nuclear test.

The explosion, which the Soviet claims "vented" the earth's surface, spewed twice as much radioactive debris into the atmosphere as did Red China's first above-the-ground nuclear test.

This joint Air Force-AEC discovery was revealed by Central Intelligence Director John McCone during his private briefing of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee on the Soviet-Chinese tests.

McCone, head of the Atomic Energy Commission during the Eisenhower administration, told the legislators the startling new data resulted from a comparison of air samplings taken over Japan following the detection of the separate Communist nuclear explosion.

Although the Air Force-AEC finding is not conclusive proof that the January 15 Soviet test was conducted in the atmosphere, McCone testified, it does raise grave questions on whether the nuclear explosion was set off underground as the Russians contend.

McCone estimated the blast yield of the Soviet test at one megaton — comparable to a million tons of TNT.

He stressed that if the explosion was detonated underground, as claimed by the Russians, it was the largest ever attempted below the earth's surface. No U.S. underground nuclear test has approached that size.

In comparing the two Communist tests, McCone reported that China's first explosion had a blast yield of less than 50 kilotons (50,000 tons of TNT), but appeared to be an advanced nuclear device.

LACK HARD INFORMATION
Under intense questioning by committee members, the CIA director admitted the U.S. has no information other than that furnished by the Russians to support the general AEC and State Department belief that the test was conducted under-piece orchestra was under the direction of Jay I. Williams.

10 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, Feb. 1, 1955.

True-to-life sketches of trains of the steam engine era set the stage for the Hobo Party of the Homebuilders Club of Memorial Presbyterian Church. Members who had their pictures taken with the realistic backgrounds were Mr. and Mrs. Alan Culverhaus, Mr. and Mrs. William Seifert and Mr. and Mrs. David L. Smith.

Mrs. John Fieweger and Mrs. Joseph Lessard were co-chairmen for the Appleton Jaycette Benefit style show for Appleton Memorial Hospital. Mrs. S. F. Schernick was named narrator and other committee members included Mrs. Frank C. Okada, Mrs. Robert Groves, Mrs. Donovan Clement, Mrs. Ernest Holliday and Mrs. Robert Chase.

ground and accidentally vented.

The limited nuclear test ban treaty signed by both the U.S. and the Soviet forbids experimental atomic blasts in the atmosphere, space, under water, and also underground explosions that spread radioactive debris beyond the testing state's borders.

According to McCone, the Soviet explosion occurred in the Semipalatinsk area of southern Russia. The U.S. has recorded "seismic events" in this region from time to time, he said, but the government has no way of determining whether the incidents are underground tests or earthquakes.

In a frank discussion of the Soviet's growing nuclear arsenal, McCone stated the Russians are going all out to catch up with our lead in small-yield nuclear weapons.

When pressed about their progress in big devices, he admitted the Russians had developed and detonated nuclear weapons of far higher yield than the U.S. had prior to the treaty banning atmospheric tests.

DISARMING THE POLARIS
The Joint Congressional Atomic Committee has quietly launched an investigation into the use of Defense Department funds to pay for disarmament studies proposing restrictions on the Navy's Polaris-firing nuclear submarines.

The committee's unannounced inquiry was touched off last week by the discovery of a unilateral arms study suggesting that Soviet observers be placed aboard Polaris submarines, and that these under-seas craft "be confined to sea areas outside of the missile-firing range of the Soviet Union."

Prepared for the Navy by the Institute for Defense Analyses, the disarmament proposal was turned over to the committee by a high Navy officer who was shocked that taxpayers' money was used to make such a report.

The IDA study, now being carefully reviewed by the committee's staff, contends that by taking this unilateral arms action "the U.S. could demonstrate restraint in our relations with Russia."

It states, "This kind of deployment could be viewed as providing the U.S. with an option of moving the submarines forward, as a 'bargaining' device in a time of tension short of war."

Since the deployment of the Polaris submarine is one of the Navy's highest classified secrets, members of the Joint Committee, headed by Representative Clet Holfield, plan to quiz Defense Secretary McNamara on why such a disarmament proposal is even being circulated at the Pentagon.

The committeemen also plan to ask McNamara to furnish them with all disarmament studies on the control of nuclear weapons which were paid for by Defense Department funds.

Other agencies, including the Atomic Energy Commission and the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, will be requested to submit similar studies to the committee for review.

Wisconsin Report

Freshman Legislator Faces Difficult Task Gaining Orientation

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The eager young man who came to Madison to take his freshman seat in the legislature approached a side-liner of some seniority and asked:

Wyngaard

"This is a complicated institution. How do I learn the ropes? How long will it be before I know what is going on?"

About a quarter of the 1965 Wisconsin legislative membership is serving for the first time. The language and procedure of the system is sometimes awesome for the newcomer, and especially that newcomer who has had no previous experience in government. Men who come with some background in city or county government usually become acclimated more rapidly. For the literal freshman, some weeks of orientation are typically required.

The best general advice for the newcomer was given a long time ago by one of the patriarchs of the capitol political system of that day, when a cub reporter asked him for the most important single rule for a legislative politician.

THE RULE

"Be careful about the pledges you make," he said, "but when you give your pledge, be certain that you don't break it."

The old man was speaking idealistically. The politician probably has not yet been born who has not at some point in his life been required to default. The old timer's message to the newcomers was about the virtue of caution. The new member of the legislature can do no better than to pay strict attention to what is going on about him, to ask questions whenever he is in doubt, and to avoid commitment on the vote solicitation which will be a part of his daily life until the session ends in midsummer.

The new member was elected under the standard of a political party. Those parties are carefully organized in the legislature and hold regular caucuses. Party discipline in Wisconsin is not as rigorous as in other legislative bodies, in part because the patronage carrot which is typically employed for punishment and reward is virtually nonexistent here. Yet there are ways to discipline the unruly or rebellious man. He may find his bills mysteriously delayed. He may find it difficult to get them to a hearing. He may find them defeated on roll calls, however innocuous they are, if he is indisposed to collaborate with the political party of his ostensible choice without very good reasons for his refusal.

WORK AT IT

The legislative procedure, baffling as it may appear at first, is usually understood within a few months. In point of fact it is a good deal easier for the average legislator to become a parliamentarian than a good legislator. The best legislators and the most effective are those who study state affairs. Many of them do not. The card players in the lobbies are not the strong men of the system.

The new legislator is sometimes worried about lobbyist relations, in part because of often distorted publicity. The fact is that the diligent legislator must maintain contact with the principal lobbies, which represent the major interest groups of the state. But the old timer's advice is especially pertinent here. The promise easily given is often bitterly regretted.

Often a freshman's seatmate can be a useful mentor, but there is an anecdote in the Wisconsin legislature that suggests a caveat there also. A bright young man asked to be assigned to one of the legendary wire men of the State Senate, so that he could be advised on difficult roll calls. Once on a complex bill he leaned toward his older seatmate and asked: "Is this a good bill?"

"No," replied the senior briefly. Later the older man voted for the measure on the roll call, to the consternation of the youngster.

"You didn't ask me how I was going to vote," he replied to the young man's indignant challenge.

Strictly Personal

Actually It's Hard to Learn How to Forget

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

All parents know, or should know, that you can't hide anything from a child. A child hears everything, sees everything, and knows everything. It is only as we get older that we lose this power of receptivity.

Harris

One of the things that happens, I think, is that we gradually build up a psychological "environment" for ourselves, and learn to live within it. Whatever does not fit within this framework, we reject — simply by turning it out, by closing our eyes to it, or refusing to understand it.

The child is still seeking a significant environment for itself, and is open to every nuance. Expressions and gestures the parents are not even aware of — to say nothing of the deeper emotions they mistakenly think are concealed — are grasped by the child as valuable clues to the world. He is like a wary explorer in a strange terrain: each bush, each bird-call, may contain a danger or a promise or a hint of meaning.

The behavioral sciences have as yet devoted very little research to these powerful antennae that children possess: nor to the important question of what happens to us psychologically as we get older and suffer a loss of this sensitivity.

One striking instance of this remarkable apparatus of children lies in "visual imaging." What we popularly call a "photographic memory" is much more prevalent among children than among adults. It occurs in something under 10 per cent of the adult population, but in as high as 60 per cent of children under the age of 12.

As long as 40 years ago, G. W. Allport published findings on this phenomenon in the British Journal of Psychology. At Cambridge, he tested 60 children, all 11 years of age, by presenting a picture on a gray mat for a half-minute, then taking it away, and leaving only the mat. More than half the children could still "see" the picture, and described it in astounding detail.

They knew the number of buttons on the jacket of a man in the picture, the length and directions of the lines of shading in a stretch of road, and the number of whiskers on a cat's lip. The German word, "Gartenwirtschaft," written above the door of an inn, was spelled out by the children, even though the word was new and meaningless to them!

Recent neurological research indicates that nothing is forgotten by the mind; memories are buried or repressed, but are still there, and retrievable by electrical stimulation, like pressing the right button on a computer. It is painful to remember some of these early images; but it may turn out to be much more painful to "forget."

U.N. Like an International Life Raft to 115

Organization Began With 51 Members, And Is Still Afloat

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Nations organization, 20 years old this year, remains a kind of international life raft for 115 nations. It had only 51 starting out in 1945.

Often rickety, sometimes ludicrous, frequently priceless, it is still afloat.

The closest thing to the parliament of man ever established, it is still far from a cozy family of nations. The most populous nation of all, Red China, can't get in.

It can't get in primarily because the United States still has enough influence to keep it out although this probably won't last much longer.

Big Daddy

In the beginning years after the war, when the membership was far smaller and this country was regarded as a kind of international big daddy, American influence was more intense than now with the membership more than doubled.

Nothing shows better, than the size of this growing family, the vast change in the world since the organization was patched together in San Francisco two decades ago.

In that time the great colonial powers became second-rate powers, losing or yielding colonies which became new states with new interests, new alliances and new discords.

Trust Fellows

But the discord, or the seeds of it, were there from the start when the big powers were unwilling to trust their futures and their fortunes to the good judgment or good intentions of their fellows under all circumstances.

Each — the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union, Nationalist China — took out some skeptical insurance, before the U.N. Charter was ever signed.

This was the power each of the five insisted it must have to veto what the others might agree to in the Security Council. The Soviet Union alone has used the veto more than 100 times.

The charter begins: "We, the people of the United Nations, determined to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war..."

Had Doubts

Anyone alive these past 20 years must have had doubts, about that determination at times, but at least there has been no major war although the United Nations can't claim total credit for the avoidance of it.

No one can plausibly argue that without the United Nations there might not have been many more minor wars, mushrooming perhaps into titanic ones. But historians may decide the absence of major wars was due more to fear than fraternity.

In the past 20 years the United States and the Soviet Union have accumulated enough nuclear weapons to toss each other into tranquility of a kind.

Only One Quit

Only one nation, Indonesia, has quit the United Nations, and that was this year. But few governments have found it always to their liking. The official U.S. view is that the machinery degraded and inadequate.

But it still wants the United States in San Francisco is out. Nations, just as the Soviet Union seems to, although right now the Soviet union is in a hassle for not paying its dues.

The Security Council, major U.N. organ for preserving peace, has been the big disappointment for many of its decisions have been nullified by the veto dreamed up at San Francisco. But none of the big powers will give up the veto.

In the beginning there were dreams, or at least talk, of setting up a big power military force to use against aggressors. This has failed.

Defense Arrangement

One evidence of the failure was that the United States felt it necessary to set up regional defense arrangements — like NATO in Europe, and others in the Middle East and Far East — to discourage aggression and be ready to meet it.

And yet the United Nations has gathered troops from its smaller members to keep peace in Palestine. It has used troops in the Congo. It has been a conciliator in other disputes.

The United Nations cannot hope to stop a war among the nuclear powers, if any of them reaches the point of wanting it. But it can turn a spray on smaller fires and, by providing a meeting place and forum, perhaps prevent the big ones.

Calm down, Mom.

Dear Dr. Molner: My niece takes her baby to a pediatrician who prescribes phenobarbital as a matter of course. He explains to mothers that they will not know they have a baby at home. I am concerned that the baby might become addicted. Is this possible? — J. D.

I hope you have been misinformed. I cannot see any possible excuse for giving babies such a drug routinely. Yes, indeed, there is a very real risk of addiction, quite aside from other dangers involved in keeping a baby constantly under sedation. The whole idea makes me thoroughly upset.

Dear Dr. Molner: In recent months I have noticed large lumps forming in each breast. I am a male so breast cancer is ruled out. I believe they may be some type of cyst. What causes them and how can they be cured? — D. M.

Johnson Asks Home Rule for U. S. Capital

Propose City Government for District of Columbia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson urged Congress today to give the citizens of the District of Columbia home rule.

He proposed legislation to create the office of mayor and a 15-member City Council, with a nonvoting delegate in the House of Representatives.

Similar pleas for home rule by former President Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy have gone unheeded by the House. The Senate has approved home rule legislation four times.

Most of the opposition in the House has come from Southerners. Negroes outnumber whites in the District by a substantial margin.

No Delay

In identical letters to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Senate and House Speaker John W. McCormack, Johnson said home rule for the citizens of the District "must no longer be delayed."

"I urge the Congress to approve at the earliest possible date the legislation which will grant them the fundamental American right of self government," he said.

Congress now has the main voice in District of Columbia affairs. Administrative details are handled by a three-member board of commissioners appointed by the president.

areas would be considered later this session.

The leaders said that Johnson had approved this course.

The bill's managers did go along with a surprise amendment by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., to keep the door open for a possible later addition of 13 New York counties to the Appalachia program. They emphasized these counties are considered a part of Appalachia but were kept out of the legislation originally by decision of New York itself. The Senate and the Appalachian Regional Council set up by the bill would have to agree to the 13-county addition.

355 Counties
Appalachia as defined in the bill includes 355 counties in 11 states, a 165,000-square mile region with more than 15 million residents.

The federal aid is designed to boost job opportunities and living standards for those persons whose per capita income of $1,400 is about $500 below the national average.

The bulk of the funds would go for construction of 3,350 miles of highways to end the long isolation of many communities in the region.

There also are funds in the bill for hospital construction and maintenance, soil improvement, timber development strip-mine reclamation, water resources studies, vocational education, sewage treatment, and grants to the states to enable them to meet their share of federal matching programs in which they now cannot participate fully.

The region is made up of all of West Virginia and parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina.

Workers Return To Cape Jobs

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Workers who had stayed off U.S. moonport jobs since Thursday began reporting today at construction sites idled in a union jurisdictional dispute.

Among first employees to show up were workers assigned to the huge vertical assembly building, where Saturn moon rockets will be put together, and the noon launch pad three miles distant.

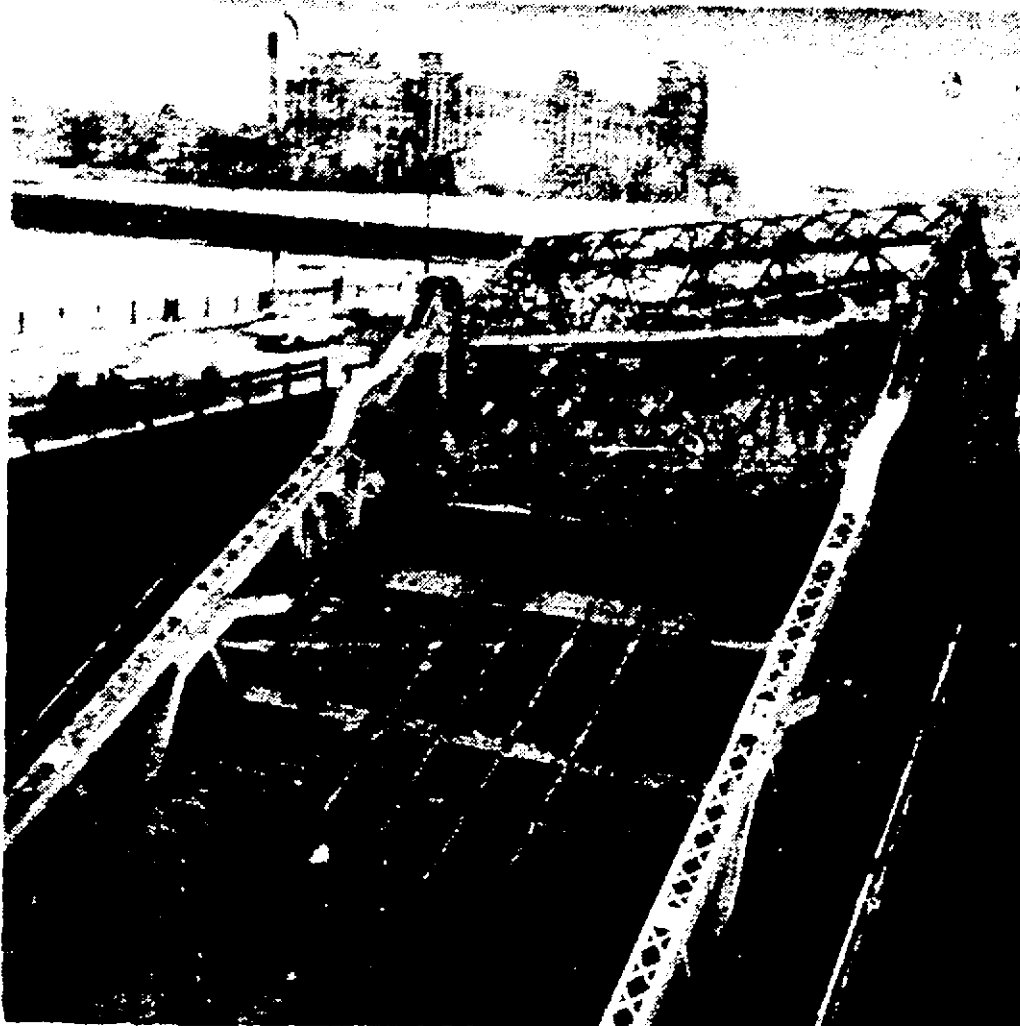

About 3,800 persons paralyzed construction on $201 million worth of projects when they topped work last week.

Anti-Castro Cubans To be on Television

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Captured anti-Castro guerrilla leader Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo and three companions will be presented on a nationwide television hookup in Cuba tonight, Havana radio said today.

The Havana newscast, monitored here, charged that Menoyo, Domingo Ortega Acosta, Ramon Quesada Gomez and Noel Salas Santos were accused of being U.S. Central Intelligence Agency agents.

The four men were reportedly captured 30 minutes after landing on the Cuban coast. They were spotted by a militiaman, Havana radio said.

Ask Investigation Of Union Aid Funds

Senate Unit Also to Probe Role Of Racketeers in Federal Banks

BY G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate investigations subcommittee said today it is looking into huge union welfare and pension funds which rarely pay any benefits and the suspected role of racketeers in the failure of some federally insured banks.

Its plans for hearings on these matters along with the request, said closed in a letter from Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., to the Senate Rules Committee.

asking approval of a $435,000 budget for the year ahead.

The letter, filed with the Senate along with the request, said staff investigators were checking into a number of labor union welfare-pension funds whose wage-earning employee members "rarely receive any benefits or annuities" but whose administrators do profit.

Not Named
McClellan did not name any of the union pension funds involved. He declined to elaborate to a reporter. Involved, he said, are unions "affiliated with large international (labor) organizations" representing unskilled laborers whose tenure on the job is apt to be short.

Seldom, he said, do the members remain with an employer long enough to qualify for any benefits from funds which accumulate to millions of dollars.

McClellan's letter gave no real details about the banks and savings and loan institutions whose failures in the past two years are under study.

Cause Downfall
"The cause of the closings of these banks and savings and loan associations has been attributed to persons of unsavory character and principles acting in concert to gain control of the stock and management of the institution, then causing its downfall," he said.

Once these groups gain control of the stock and management there followed a rapid deterioration of the assets.

The senator also disclosed — again without details — his subcommittee is looking into — "Allegations concerning irregularities in many phases of the operation of the urban renewal program."

"Labor racketeering in the New York area" including allegations of "exorbitant fees, embezzlement, extortion of payoffs and other improper conduct."

Dr. Richard L. Varco, professor of surgery, told a scientific society kidney-grafting is "advanced biological study," but still highly dangerous.

According to an old superstition, this is an indication of six more weeks of cold weather.

At least nine persons have died, apparently of heart attacks, while shoveling snow which accompanied the cold wave in many parts of the state.

The coldest city in the state Monday night was La Crosse where it was 31 below zero. It was 13 below at Milwaukee.

Other low readings included Eau Claire 26 below, Lone Rock 24 below, Duluth-Superior 23 below, Madison and Wausau 21 below, Pewaukee 18 below, Racine, Beloit and Green Bay 15 below.

The coldest spots in the nation Monday were Bemidji and Brainerd, Minn., where the readings were 32 below. The high Monday was 84 at McAllen, Texas.

Bitter cold drove into the Deep South today and much of the country shivered through a night of subzero temperatures, rain, snow and strong winds.

Arctic Air

Arctic air over the North central states pushed south through the lower Mississippi Valley and southern Texas and east over the Tennessee and Ohio valleys.

Cold wave warnings were issued for Arkansas, northern Mississippi and sections of Tennessee and Kentucky.

The temperature dropped to 9 in Paducah, Ky., before midnight and to 10 in Louisville.

Schools were closed in 20 Kentucky counties because of snow and cold.

Rain fell over the central Gulf Coast states and a belt of snow whitened an area from Tennessee to the Carolina mountains north to southern New England and the eastern Great Lakes.

Five inches of snow fell in Knoxville, Tenn., and 4 inches were measured in Crossville and Bristol. The temperature in Nashville was 15 before midnight.

Four-inch snowfalls also were reported in London, Ky.; Beckley, W.Va.; Binghamton, N.Y.; and Muskegon, Mich.

Several school systems were closed today in North Carolina mountain areas because of snow.

Assessed Valuation Of New York City Set at $31 Billion

NEW YORK (AP) — The assessed valuation of all taxable real estate in New York City's five boroughs has been set tentatively at more than $31 billion, an increase of 5.5 per cent over eight months ago.

The figures were announced Monday by the City Tax Commission.

The highest assessed valuation for a single building was $68 million for the Chase Manhattan Bank building in downtown Manhattan. The Empire State Building, once the top valuation, was assessed at $56 million, an increase of $1 million from last year.

Connecticut had up to 4 inches.

Florida warmed a bit Monday after frost and freezing temperatures.

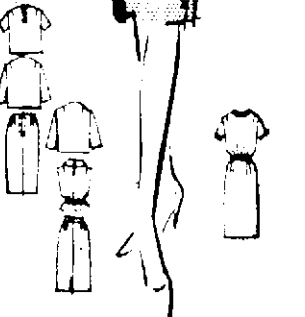

The flood threats eased off in the Northwest.

Temperatures dropped in Oregon, stopping the melting of mountain snows. Rain also ceased. Residents moved back into their homes in Tillamook.

About 600 moved out Sunday when an earthquake dammed up the Wilson River.

Former Neenah Woman Speaks at Advisors Workshop

NEENAH — A native of Neenah Dr. Lois Hardt returned home to share thoughts and ideas on "Understanding Our Senior Citizens" at the Golden Age Club Advisors Workshop Friday.

All human beings have basic needs that exist regardless of age and some of the needs aren't being met for senior citizens, the University of Wisconsin professor of rehabilitative recreation pointed out.

The basic inborn needs include survival and safety, and physiological needs, she said. The physiological needs are food, warmth and freedom from pain.

The higher needs Dr. Hardt discussed were love and affection, esteem and self-actualization as they apply to senior citizens.

Love is not so prevalent for these people as it was in youth and at the height of life. They have lost their spouses and their peers are dying. Their children are grown and directing their love elsewhere, she said.

They experience a passive type of love that is not omnipresent. The exchange of love with their grandchildren is really controlled by the parents, Dr. Hardt said.

Romance is gone for them, she noted. We can't, as people working with senior citizens, decree they shouldn't have affection in their lives. Sometimes we aren't as understanding of this as we should be, Dr. Hardt told the group.

She used as an example attractions between members of the opposite sex in Golden Age Clubs.

The need for esteem involves a self-concept, Dr. Hardt stated. We all have a self-concept and tied into it are expectations. Each person has roles he plays and these change at different times. But each person has the expectation of a response. "It is discomfoting if a response is not received. You react negatively and your defense arises."

Love Work Role

The need for self-actualization is a combination of challenge and fulfillment. "The United States is the most work-oriented society in the world," the speaker said. A fourteen-year-old usually has a paper route or babysits. Work is looked on favorably as a sign of responsibility. A person is also expected to advance in his work.

Dr. Hardt said, "the senior citizen has had a role, job and responsibility as a family man. He has met bills and worried. At 65, the house is usually paid for, there is no income and he is neither the boss at home nor on a job. He doesn't know how to act. Nothing in his whole life has equipped him for this role."

When the senior citizen has no esteem, love or fulfillment he directs his attention to the basic needs of survival, safety and comfort for the body.

"This is why older people discuss their health so often," the speaker said. Their bodies change in physical features and in timing. None of these things are in keeping with all their former years. It is normal they will focus on lower needs if we don't focus on higher ones."

"If Golden Age Club members balk at doing certain tasks, for example dishes, we must consider the level of expectations we set up," she reminded Golden Age advisers.

"If you have a problem with a club member, look behind the problem and sort it out in terms of his needs. Maybe you can re-direct his needs. Golden Age Clubs can give members challenges that will fulfill their higher needs," she said.

"Do things with them, not for them. Don't relegate them to a back seat," the speaker concluded.

Dr. Hardt earned her B.S. degree in recreation and physical education at Wisconsin State University, LaCrosse. She received her M.S. from San Francisco State College and her Ph.D. from New York University in adoptive recreation. She has been affiliated with the Jewish Vocational Center and the University of Wisconsin, Oshkosh. She also serves as a lieutenant in the Naval Reserve.

The many needs of our constantly increasing number of senior citizens were discussed at a workshop for Golden Age Club advisors Friday in Neenah. Above, talking over their own programs and exchanging ideas on how to meet the challenge of aging are Gerald Smith, Waukesha, chairman of the workshop; Dr. Lois Hardt, guest speaker and a professor in the school of Education at the University of Wisconsin; Charles Drayna, president of the Wisconsin Recreation Association and director of recreation at Oshkosh; Miss Eleanor Kaiser, Golden Age Club advisor for the Sheboygan Recreation Dept. and clubs at Kohler and Sheboygan Falls; and William Miller, recreation director at Neenah who made arrangements for the day. The workshop was made possible through a grant made by the Sheboygan Recreation Dept. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Information, Volunteers Help to Clubs

NEENAH—There is much information available for programs, service projects and guidance of Golden Age Clubs, noted Charles Drayna, Oshkosh, speaking to Golden Age Club advisers at a day-long workshop Friday at the Recreation Building.

Mr. Drayna, president of the Wisconsin Recreation association, said advisers should look to local agencies and the three levels of government for resources of assistance available to Golden Age Clubs.

On the national level, advisers were told to keep in regular contact with the Social Security Administration, because the rules are constantly changing.

Volunteer Sources

"The state has a commission on the aged which publishes a helpful bulletin, "Aging in the News," Mr.

Drayna pointed out. The University of Wisconsin, Centers and State Universities also sponsor courses on aging. He reminded his audience to look to college students and faculty to gain volunteers for the Golden Age program. "These people grew up volunteering and they miss it when they are in college," he commented.

The county welfare department is a resource for information on the Kerr-Mills Bill and surplus commodities. "The State Employment Offices have specialists for older persons," the speaker said. He reminded the group that many businesses and industries want senior citizens for part-time employment.

Mr. Drayna also suggested workers look to county homes and hospitals, Visiting Nurses Association and Schools of Vocational and Adult Education for help for Golden Age members.

"At 65 or 75 years of age a person can't stop and shut off all he has learned. We must tap the tremendous resources in these people. They are joyful when they know they can still contribute," Mr. Drayna stated.

A trend has been for libraries to open special reading rooms as the senior citizen population continues to soar.

"Keep in touch with legislators and assemblymen," Mr. Drayna said, "because many bills are being proposed and Golden Age advisers should keep their eyes on them."

The audience was instructed to consider church groups, service clubs, women's clubs, the recreation departments and bar associations to aid Golden Age Clubs.

Mr. Drayna, director of recreation in Oshkosh, received his master's degree from the University of Indiana.

For Club Leaders

The Friday workshop was sponsored in cooperation with the administrators' section of the Wisconsin Recreation Association and the Sheboygan Recreation Department.

The purpose of the event was to provide Golden Age Club advisers and volunteers, in this part of the state, with an opportunity to exchange ideas and become acquainted with the resources available for Golden Age activity.

The workshop was for the northern part of the state and included representatives from Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Manitowish, Two Rivers, Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Clintonville and DePere. A similar workshop took place Jan. 22 at West Allis.

Overweight, Cholesterol Factors in Heart Attacks

Some half a million American healthy persons years before it can die of heart attacks each arrives.

Of course, a non-smoking woman or a lean man also can have a heart attack, but the risk statistically is much less.

Trouble Signs

The three most important signs of susceptibility, says the American Heart Association, are high blood levels of cholesterol, high blood pressure and an abnormal electrocardiogram.

The health of the heart is definitely linked with life habits. More and more heart specialists point to one great general cause: an abuse of our prosperity. The abundance and temptations of modern times. Many men abuse cigarettes, food, liquor and their muscles. Qdoting a noted heart specialist, he points out that adult people must learn to distinguish between moderation and abuse. Two packs of cigarettes a day is an abuse. Too much fat or too many calories is an abuse. Drinking during most parts of the day is an abuse. Doing no physical work is an abuse.

Differences of Opinion

True, there still are differences of opinion among competent men regarding the exact connection between these abuses and heart attacks. True, there still is much to be learned. The decision is one that each individual must make for himself. To wait until all of the evidence is at hand and the doctor can give a positive answer to the question of what causes heart attacks or to stop abusing the good things of abundant life and use today's knowledge in the hopes of saving the heart.

Once again February is Heart Month. It can be a month of decision.

Winter Blues Yield To Sunny Colors

If those late winter 'blues' are a swim suit with no place to go, is just too absurd for your sunny yellow, you're right in line with the latest color trends in home decor. In a color survey conducted nationally last fall the light look came way out ahead, with yellows and beiges leading the trend away from more vivid colors.

The yellow that's taken the fancy of the home decorator leans toward warmer and muted shades, rather than sharp or greenish tones. Off-whites, light beiges and other neutrals are also high on the popularity panels, along with accent colors.

Blues are weak in demand as far as pastels go, but the strong er shades, vivid, deep, green-blue, rich blue and low-key grey-blue are being used for accent. Lavender and violet wall colors have changed to pink and rose. Light pastel greens and bluish-greens are continuing to rise in favor. At the same time, there is little demand for green as accent.

So if February calls for a change of scene and the sunny south is beyond the realm of this year's budget—if buying

Slam Bid Depends on Singleton

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

National Man & Team Champion
Bruce Elliott and Percy Sheardown, leading Toronto experts, managed to bid a difficult slam with two useful singletons during the 1964 Team Trials last December. Perhaps Sheardown was lucky that dummy showed a deep pink and a pearly bidding was instructive even if a trifle bold.

Elliott, with the North hand, could see a reasonable chance for slam at hearts as soon as he heard the opening bid of one ruffing still another diamond in heart. It would be enough if South held nothing but K-Q of ace so that Sheardown could hearts and A-K of diamonds draw the last trumps and get to but not if South had his A-K in dummy with a spade to discard clubs instead of diamonds.

There was no need for North to guess which high cards his partner had. North could solve the problem by describing his own hand. South would then know whether or not the partnership had a good fit. North accomplished his mission by bidding diamonds and later in hearts. Powerful bidding in three suits shows shortness in the fourth suit so North described a hand with good heart support, slam ambition, and only a singleton in clubs.

Sheardown knew he might have trouble if North had the king of diamonds rather than the king of spades, but he knew that the singleton club was pure gold. His jump to slam was bold but justified. West made the normal lead of diamond at the March meeting.

Strictly Off Limits to the Male in your life is this little 'pampering corner' where you can relax and perform your beauty rituals in private. A beautifully styled vanity table in brass with a Florentine marble-finished top is small enough to fit into any small corner of your room.
